Great Air-Sea Mercy Hunt On Near Bermuda

Planes And Ships Searching
For B-29 Bomber And
20 Who Were Aboard

REPORT PLANE IS 'DITCHED' IN OCEAN (BULLETIN)

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 17.—(INS)—America's armed services mounted one of the greatest air-sea mercy hunts of all times today for signs of a U. S. Air Force B-29 bomber which ditched in the Atlantic off Bermuda yesterday with 20 men aboard.

More than 24 hours after the B-29 radioed it was landing on the water—at 7:15 a. m. (EST) yesterday—there still was no indication of the fate of the giant plane and its occupants.

But Coast Guard, Navy and Air Force officials in charge of the tremendous search—covering an area of 274,600 square miles—refused to give up hope for the men.

Many Planes In Search

Thrown into the renewed search at daybreak today were at least 66 planes and three Coast Guard vessels—but additional planes to a total of almost 200 were standing by at various fields.

Some Royal Air Force planes also joined the hunt.

The pilot of the missing plane in radioing his "ditching" plan did not give a position report, according to the Coast Guard. This lack of a clue to the plane's exact whereabouts explained the vast area being searched.

Planes either already winging out over the Atlantic—or ready to take off from Bermuda and Florida fields—included 53 B-29's, five Navy planes, two B-17's and four Coast Guard PBM flying boats.

Considerable snow fell in some areas around New Castle early today, it is reported. Numerous autos on through routes were covered with a coating of snow, it was observed.

Residents of Little Beaver township awoke this morning to find the ground and trees white with snow which had fallen during the night. No snow was observed on the streets or trees in the city early today although it attempted to snow. Slushy rain fell around 8 a. m. in the city.

Don Morgan of R. D. 3, a youthful hunter, was one of the few successful county hunters who emerged from the big game country with a bear this season. Morgan in company with Herbert Ward of the same district found his bear in Cameron county, near Emporium. It tipped the scales at 450 pounds.

Pa News notes that a brave little oriole built her nest and reared her young on a branch of the big poplar tree which stands at the corner of Highland and Park last summer. Since the leaves have disappeared, the empty nest can be seen hanging just above the traffic light, at one of the busiest corners in the city.

Alton Gerlach, R. D. 3, brought in to Pa News on Wednesday afternoon a strawberry shrub which had begun to bloom and had numerous buds on the branch. This is the second time the bush has bloomed this year. The bush at his residence near New Wilmington.

Pat Darby, Westminster college co-ed from Riverside, Conn., and Tom Kelly of Coraopolis, were elected ideal freshmen in a close election held on the college campus this week.

Four School Directors Complete City Service

Wednesday night's meeting of the New Castle School Board saw the close of service for four of the directors.

Two of the directors, President Howard L. Reynolds and Earl M. Brookover did not seek re-election and two others, Daniel B. Woolcock and William D. Cobau were defeated in the election on November 8.

For Mr. Woolcock it was the close of the longest continuous service of any person ever to serve upon the school board it is believed. Mr. Woolcock was named to the board in 1928 to replace Dr. W. Lowrie Campbell who resigned because of ill health. He was elected to fill the unexpired term, and was re-elected in 1931, 1937 and 1943.

He has completed 21 years of service.

Man Sought In Murder Of Girl Is Not Located

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—(INS)—A flood of tips on the whereabouts of Fred Stroble swamped police switchboards today and the search for the suspected torturer slayer of six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucof centered along the Mexico-United States border.

A deputy of the San Diego county sheriff's office, stationed in Jacumba, near the Mexican border, arrested a suspect last night, but the man was released when he proved that he was not Stroble.

Issues Murder Complaint
The Los Angeles county district attorney's office issued a murder complaint for the 67-year-old retired baker and grandfather. It will be used as the basis for a request to the FBI to enter the case.

Stroble jumped bail on a morals charge last May 11 in Highland Park, Calif., and has been on "police wanted" lists since then, although a concerted attempt to find him never was made.

He was visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hausman, neighbors of the little Glucof girl, at the time her tortured and mutilated body was found last Tuesday in a trash heap at the rear of the Hausman home. Stroble disappeared and a two-nation search for him was launched.

Three Possible Actions Said

CHING TURNS ISSUE OVER TO PRESIDENT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Administration sources said today that President Truman is studying three possible moves in the coal dispute which threatens to bring another mine shut-down Dec. 1.

They said it is unlikely that a decision would be reached today.

Alternatives open to the President are:

Alternatives Open

1. To name a special fact-finding board to investigate the contract battle between John L. Lewis and make recommendations for its settlement.

2. Immediately to invoke the 60-day injunction weapon of the Taft-Hartley law to block another work stoppage by the 375,000 soft coal diggers when the current strike truce expires November 30.

3. To declare that no national emergency exists at present and delay action until the end of the month in the hope of forcing Lewis and the industry into a voluntary agreement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Senate Minority Floor Leader Wherry (R-Neb.), agrees with Secretary of State Acheson that Communist China should not be recognized, but he fears the results of possible British recognition.

Wherry commented today on Acheson's announcement that the Chinese Communist arrest of U. S. Consul General Angus Ward at Mukden removes all possibility of recognition of the Red government in China.

He said that while he agreed with Acheson, the entire philosophy of the administration has been to favor a coalition government in China. At the same time Wherry declared possible British recognition.

Over 3500 County
Workers Return To Jobs Since Strike

Greatest Number In Ellwood City;
177 Have Not Yet Been Called Back

A survey of Lawrence county's major industries shows that approximately 3500 county workers have returned to their jobs since the end of the steel strike, it is announced by George Gettings, manager of the local state employment office.

Of the workers returning to work, 2800 are at the National Tube company of Ellwood City. It is expected that an additional 300 to 400 will be called back by the Tube company within the next few days, Mr. Gettings reports.

Despite the return to work of a great number of workers there are still some 1477 in the county that have not been called back to their jobs. It is expected, however, that this total will be reduced to 250 within two or three weeks.

It is the forecast of the employment office that employment in the county will be nearly normal within three weeks.

These figures do not include persons working outside of Lawrence county.

MUCH COAL BEING MOVED TO LAKES

Business conditions on the B. & O. railroad are fast getting back to normal, Terminal Trainmaster William M. Mort, stated today.

Train service is about 85 per cent of normal at the present time he stated, around 50 men who had been furloughed because of lack of business during the strike period, having been called back; while the shops at New Castle Junction have called back around 60 men. There are still a number who are still idle in the shop department, however, he stated.

Much of the freight business at the present time is in the hauling of coal to the lake ports, in order to get a stock ahead before the lakes freeze up, when the freight business will see its periodic slack.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Shah of Iran served notice today that he will press for increased military aid to his country on grounds that Iran is the key to peace in the Middle East and in fact the whole world.

Seeks Assistance
The Shah, 30-year-old Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, told a news conference that he expects to ask American business interests for financial assistance during his current state visit to the United States.

The young ruler, resplendent in the uniform of commander-in-chief of the Iranian navy, received newsmen at the former residence of late Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal, recently leased by the state department to house distinguished foreign guests.

The Shah's first night in Washington was spent as President Truman's personal guest at the Blair House.

Debt On Stadium
Lighting System
Now Liquidated

The floodlights at Taggart Stadium are now debt free, and a portion of the debt for the new steel bleachers has been liquidated.

At the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson moved the transfer of $15,000 from the athletic fund to the general fund. This was to clear the debt on the lights. Previously $20,000 had been paid from football profits into the general fund for payment on the lights. The cost of the lights was $33,000.

The transfer Wednesday night was $20,000 more than the remaining debt on the lights and this has been applied upon the steel bleachers. This debt will also be cleared from football profits.

Two B-29 Bombers
Collide High Over
California Valley

Four Of 22 Aboard Both Bombers Known To Have Escaped

RESCUERS SEEK TO RECOVER BODIES
(BULLETIN)

STOCKTON, Cal., Nov. 17.—(INS)—A collision between two B-29 bombers nearly five miles above a fog-shrouded California valley took an estimated death toll of 18 air force men today.

Only four of 22 officers and men reported aboard the two Superforts were known to have escaped death by hairbreadth parachute leaps as the giant planes, one of them in flames, plunged 26,000 feet down to earth.

Three of the victims' bodies, burned beyond recognition and with charred parachute fragments clinging to them, were extricated from one of the broken bombers shortly before 6 a. m. PST, some six hours after the midair collision.

Crash Northwest Of Stockton
The spectacular crash occurred shortly before midnight over Delta farms northwest of Stockton, and one of the bombers crashed to earth about 300 yards from a Mexican crop laborers' camp.

A sheriff's officer, Capt. Densel Trout, quoted the laborers as saying they "thought it was an earthquake" when they heard the crash and felt the ground shake.

An officer believed to be the pilot of one of the B-29's was among the survivors who bailed out split seconds before their fellow crewmen became trapped in the plunging planes with their "chutes" only partially strapped on. The survivors were brought to Stockton's Naval annex hospital, suffering from shock and minor injuries.

Lt. Warren Sherrick of Spokane, Wash., stumbled in a daze into the nearby home of a resort operator and said he had dropped through the bomb bay of his plane before his parachute opened.

A California highway patrolman reported counting four or five bodies, with parachutes half on, in the wreckage of one of the bombers.

One Caught Fire
The huge Superforts crashed on opposite sides of the San Joaquin river delta 15 minutes before midnight. The one that caught fire plummeted down on McDonald Island, 10 miles northwest of Stockton. The wreckage of the other was found a few hours after the crash, mired in six feet of mud and peat on Rindge tract, across from McDonald Island.

Highway Patrolman Bill Allott, one of the first to reach Rindge tract after the crash, said the plane crashed in that area was "broken up but mostly all in one piece."

He added: "I looked in the plane and I was sure I saw at least four or five bodies stacked up. Some of the boys had their chutes half on. It was apparent they didn't get a chance to use them."

The dense fog blanketing the countryside east of San Francisco Bay hampered rescue crews that were attempting to hack their way into the wreckage of the two bombers and remove the victims.

A. F. L. Agreement Is Reached With Aluminum Company

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17.—(INS)—An agreement was reached last night between the Aluminum Company and the AFL Aluminum Workers on pension covering some 10,000 union members.

The plan is similar to the Bethlehem settlement in the steel dispute and provides minimum pensions of $100 monthly, including Social Security benefits for retired workers 65 years of age with 25 years service.

The AFL was not affected by the walkout of CIO-USW Aluminum Company of America workers.

The AFL plants are at East St. Louis, Ill.; Massena, N. Y.; Chillicothe, O.; Cresconia, Pa.; Lafayette, Ind.; and Vancouver, Wash.

A settlement between ALCOA and the CIO-United Steelworkers is expected today. It would send some 17,000 aluminum workers back to work in nine plants in seven states.

Cruible Steel, with 9,000 workers, is expected to follow ALCOA in signing with the steel union sometime today. Cruible has its largest plant at Midland, Pa.

association meeting in which he gently complained that he delayed his trip and missed a state dinner for the Shah of Iran to be with the group.

Association President William B. MacDonald Jr. started the "Veep" off on the subject of his wedding by remarking that Kentucky has been noted for its fast horses, beautiful women and bourbon whiskey. He said:

"Most recently, however, I see that there has been serious contention from the state of Missouri over the question of the most beautiful women."

Barkley's Reply
Barkley replied:

"I appreciate what you have said about Kentucky but the truth of the matter is there is no controversy between Kentucky and Missouri."

"Every controversy that has existed up to now has been settled. The fact is Kentucky settled Missouri and is still trying to do it."

Barkley said he had received offers from hotels all over the country to spend his honeymoon, but said he was "disappointed somewhat" because he had not been offered the accommodations of a trailer. He jovially added:

"So in the absence of any offer of a trailer from which to trail the country will be compelled to occupy a hotel somewhere in Shangri-La and other sundry places."

ton, is approximately five feet high and bloomed during rose time early in the summer. The bush does not bear strawberries, but the flowers have a strawberry odor.

The weather presents quite a paradox at times. Whereas the weather conditions yesterday were quite wintry like here, a year ago the mercury stood at 76 degrees, and it was really summer.

Workmen on the highway department are bringing to a completion their major outdoor projects for the season in the Frew Mill road section. Some clean-up work exists there before the project will be suspended until next summer. Grading, widening, some relocation and the application of a base has been completed thus far. Blacktop will be placed next spring.

In reference to the numerous traffic counts which are being made throughout the county as mentioned by Pa Newc on Wednesday, Alfred Martin, county highway superintendent, states that engineers of the department are making the check for their "over the state" planning programs. The proposed turnpike extension in this section has resulted in a large number of the counters being installed locally.

An interesting display is being currently conducted in the lobby of the downtown postoffice. The exhibit is in connection with the correct wrapping and mailing of parcels both in this and foreign countries for Christmas mailing. The display gives the proper wrapping technique and other data as to insure proper and prompt delivery of the articles mailed.

If Wednesday afternoon's long line of parcel post patrons is any criterion, pre-holiday mailing will get off to an early start this year. As high as 15 and 20 patrons were observed in the line at one time and the mailers were still coming laden with bundles of various sizes and descriptions.

tion could hurt America interests. Acheson's statement highlighted an already critical situation in the Far East, where a Chinese Nationalist warship shelled the American Merchant ship, The Flying Cloud. The Secretary promised a prompt protest on this incident.

Both Wherry and Sen. Smith (R) N.J., who has just returned from a trip to the Far East, opposed recognition of the Chinese Communist government. Wherry said that "the whole philosophy of the Truman administration has been for a coalition in Communist China."

Voices Concern
But he voiced particular concern over possible British recognition of the new government, asserting: "I don't know whether that's going to happen. But if it should, we would be doing indirectly what the administration would not do directly. Great Britain would be trading with Communist China and getting the profits. It would be a question of whether you want to put profits over principle."

Wherry said "every effort" should be made to obtain Ward's release. He said this was "not the first time" an American had found himself in such predicament.

He served upon all committees, and was president for a number of years. He has served his city well. Just before adjournment, President Howard L. Reynolds expressed his appreciation of the co-operation he had been given. Mr. Brookover spoke in a similar vein as did Mr. Cobau. Mr. Woolcock said he had been glad to serve and left the board feeling that all the members with whom he had associated had been genuinely interested in the schools of the city.

Superintendent Frank L. Burton bespoke his appreciation of the co-operation of the board and Solicitor Robert L. Wallace summed it all up by saying, "these men have been a fine group of school directors."

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

One of the most ambitious and potentially far-reaching moves in modern history to put an end to the traditional rivalry and animosity between France and Germany is under way—and skeptical heads are wagging with doubt and disbelief.

It had its incubation at the recent meeting of big three foreign ministers in Paris and has spread with widening ripples since.

There is strong reason to believe that U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson used extremely vigorous terms in expounding his theory that it is high time the western allies took a more realistic view of Germany, particularly with regard to the communist menace.

Then came a guarded admission by Foreign Minister Robert Schuman that France realizes the need for integration of Germany in any general scheme for western European recovery.

Next was a statement by British Foreign Secretary Bevin expressing hopes that steps now being contemplated will permit a hand-clasp between Germany and France.

Curtain Is Lifted

And west German Chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer lifted the curtain to some degree on the secret big three discussions. He disclosed that the allies are willing to discuss Germany's entry into many international organizations and will slow up some dismantling of peaceful German industry while the entire subject is reviewed.

There are many qualified international observers who believe firmly that despite three savage German aggressions since 1870, there is nothing fundamentally impossible about a real Franco-German rapprochement.

They point to the fact that Charlemagne, the greatest of medieval emperors, is claimed by both countries. Although a Frank, he had his place and headquarters at Aachen in Rhenish Prussia and spent many years of his life in Bavaria.

His influence for good and his widespread journeys over the face of Europe in fulfillment of his pledge to halt Moslem invasions of the continent resulted in a great admixture and fusion of different bloods.

Today, as for centuries, French and Germans have much in common in the way of tradition and culture that has survived miraculously despite war and conquest.

Numerous Attempts

In the course of the years there have been numerous attempts to do away with real and fanciful dislikes which have been fanned by propagandistic agitation on both sides.

Early French and German Socialists tried to get together only to find their efforts nullified in callous forums of political interest. Such efforts continued almost up to the outbreak of the first world war in 1914. And they were revived soon after that conflict by men like Aristide Briand of France and Gustav Stresemann of Germany.

Stresemann's reputation has not survived without blemish. The charge has been made that his protestations of peace at Locarno and elsewhere actually were designed to cover up clandestine German rearmament.

The Briand sincerity never has been questioned. He suffered defeats and humiliations in pursuit of his fanatical belief that world peace was possible. He even was subjected to the worst indignity that can be voiced against a Frenchman—willful endangerment of the motherland he was sworn to protect.

Long Political Isolation

This meant long periods of political isolation and obscurity. The Kellogg pact for the outlawry of war gave Briand his greatest opportunity to rise to the heights. And while it, like the League of Nations, failed entirely of its purpose, Briand left an indelible touch upon these two major efforts for peace.

Any attempt to bring France and Germany together at this moment obviously is a delicate and complicated task.

Over and above the fact that Germany is split in two, Gen. Charles de Gaulle has told his formidable following that the French government is a weak one indeed if it is being deluded by German promises of friendship. And German Social Democratic leader Dr. Kurt Schumacher has told his own people that they are taking an enormous risk by placing too much faith in present peace moves.

France and Germany still remain divided by the Rhine and most of its bridges still are down because of unreconstructed war damage. It may take more than architects and engineers to bring them together firmly and forever.

Folks Of Fame

Henry David Thoreau was born July 12, 1817, at Concord, Mass., and decided that this country contained all the beauty and grandeur necessary to a nature worshiper. He did a little traveling, but for the most part, remained in his native haunts. He was first a teacher, then lecturer and writer.

In his philosophy of life, a man could be as independent of his kind as a nest-building bird, so he built himself a hut on the shore of a lake and lived there for two years. He came to know plants, birds and fishes so well that they would come at his call. His books, Walden, or, Life in the Woods, and Excursions, are read today. He died at 45, May 6, 1862, and is buried in Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Concord.

Gen. George H. Thomas, American general, was born in Virginia, July 31, 1816. He was graduated from West Point, served as an artillery subaltern in the Seminole Indian and Mexican wars. Although a southerner, he decided to adhere to the Union in the Civil war, and in command of an independent force in eastern Kentucky attacked the Confederates at Mills Springs, gaining the first important Union victory in the west. He succeeded Gen. William S. Rosecrans in command of the Army of the Cumberland shortly before the Battle of Missionary Ridge, and later defeated Gen. John Bell Hood—for which he was made a major general and received Congress thanks. He died at San Francisco, March 23, 1870.

State Police Say:

Statistics are cold and impersonal things. The crimson blotches on the accident graph indicate death by automobile. Before the fatal collision that crimson mark was a living, breathing human being, who had to die because some driver decided to take a chance or tried to save a minute or two of time. Don't drive to become a statistic. Join the drive to stay alive.

Never can too much talk be made about the conduct of some people who attend football games . . . especially about some "fans" who attend football games here in New Castle . . . and who, when the spirit moves them, and it most always does . . . travel about to see the local team play in other communities. Especially when the big games are played in Pittsburgh . . . when the eyes of western Pennsylvania are upon football . . . almost one and all. Referring to the unfortunate incidents that occurred in 1948 . . . and which we hope will never occur again . . . but indications point that the so-called unfortunate incidents might happen again.

Last football game . . . between Warren and New Castle . . . near the end of the game fans left their seats when an incident occurred on the playing field. A fence around the playing field kept the "fans" from over-running the officials and players . . . Why did this happen . . . a few poor sports thought something was going wrong . . . Looking from the far side of the field . . . it reminded one of a pack of wolves in a zoo running up and crowding the fence when a little boy asked his mother what those moth eatin' animals were.

We are happy to say . . . the gentlemen of the evening were the New Castle Football Players who were sitting on the bench . . . they didn't get up and roar around . . . the coach and assistant coaches didn't get up and act like mad men . . . No it was only a handful of bullies in the stands that started the rush to the fence . . . The same that happened in Pitt Stadium last year . . . followed by many handfuls of easily led people . . . which cost the New Castle School System several hundreds of dollars.

On November 26 . . . 1:30 in the afternoon . . . the kick-off for the big game will take place. Those who attend the game should keep one fact in mind . . . they are from the best damn town in Western Pennsylvania . . . and they owe it to us who will still be in that town . . . to act like decent citizens . . . fun can be had in many ways . . . but tearing down property is not an accepted way. Let's talk courtesy for the 26th.

Soon On Probation?

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Distributed by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Russians, of pure heart and purpose, have learned to rearrange mountain ranges, water the desert and cool the jungle with atomic energy and power—to hear them tell it.

But they have yet to learn how to make a satisfactory 51 gauge 15 denier nylon stocking to wrap the ankle of a lady towardish in gossamer and grace and cozen the gal into sweet complaisance.

And thereby hangs the tale of how one long-naturalized American citizen, whose father, brothers and sister are still behind the Iron Curtain, manages to keep them alive in a satellite nation.

When, soon after the end of the second world war, his native land was swallowed up in the Russian advance across eastern Europe, this American—and let's call him Mr. X for convenience's sake—was terrified least his well-to-do, middle-class family be liquidated in toto.

Family Still Alive

Almost a year went by before Mr. X heard, in round about fashion, that his family was still alive, but its properties confiscated and its members forbidden to enter new business ventures.

Mr. X's joy at learning his family still lived was tempered by his anxiety that all would starve under the New Order. But the man who brought the message from his family, also inadvertently gave Mr. X the idea that has enabled him to keep his kith and kin alive ever since.

The Russian overlords, the messenger remarked more or less by chance, spent their time denouncing decadent, imperialist America in public and then sneaking around the corner to buy on the black market at fantastic prices, one of the most frivolous and luxurious products of that decadent imperialism—nylon stockings.

"The bear that walks like a man is more acceptable, at least in some circles, if he comes armed with nylons," the messenger said. "The commissars will buy no nylons unless they are marked 'American,' and then only the 'sheerest.'"

No Trick For Mr. X To buy gossamer nylons was no trick for Mr. X, an enterprising businessman. But how to get them to his family? That was the problem. But he finally licked it in an ingenious manner I do not feel free to tell.

Mr. X's family has found a ready market, one both steady and dependable, for American nylons. But while nylon stockings are still the chief item of export to his family, Mr. X, on round-about-word from his family, has added a few other plain and fancy staples to the stock he sends regularly.

Uncle Joe's boys are almost as fond of penicillin as of nylons. Mr. X, a gentleman of the old school, said he did not feel he could explain to ears as delicate as mine the probable cause of penicillin's popularity among the Russians.

Ivan also has a surprising hankering for aspirin in a Communist world from which headaches, supposedly, were long since banished by usage. He also loves vitamins—take any from A to Z, and that's for him.

Mr. X's fall shipment contained a dozen sweater coats, heavy woolen socks and warm gloves that were like hot-cakes. However, always keeping the fancy nylon trade in mind, Mr. X is now waiting word of a new item he added recently: American home-permanent kits.

He figures if the ladies latch onto sheer nylon hose, it indicates a weakness for wavy hair and curls, too.

Still with the nylon trade in mind, Mr. X recently sent his family an item of which he expects great things. In his last package, he included a half dozen lacy nylon nightgowns in the most ravishing colors.

He feels there are great possibilities in a combination of nylon hose and a nylon nightgown. Can't hardly wait to hear from the old folks at home about the Russian reception of this package offer.

That is, in the prevailing market.

Anyway the Barkley-Hadley romance may not be the romance of the century but it sure looks like it moved the center of interest to St. Louis from Stromboli.

It took a fellow from Kentucky to show Rosellini how to sweep a girl off her feet into a convertible coupe. . . He's still bailing out his rowboat.

My mother hoped that I would be God's servant in the ministry. My father, thinking I'd be swayed, Talked of the money lawyers made.

At other times he said to me: "The needed men in industry. And if I ran a plant with care, I might become a millionaire."

Now fortunate and glad am I To be a poor newspaper guy. I am less worried than are they Being called "Big interest men" today. (Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

They Say

BONN, Germany—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer: The Franco-German question is one of the most important in Europe. Many tell me that the widest French circles honestly want to put an end to Franco-German animosity forever. I assure the world the same wish is shared by the German people as a whole.

Belated Navy Defense

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I always throw my voice at a late time. My voice is raised today in defense of the Navy.

Fire Admiral Denfeld. That's all right. Put all the battleships in storage. That's all right, too. Have a Secretary of the Navy who doesn't know an outboard motor from a bobcat. That's all right with me, too.

This is perhaps the first defense of the Navy ever offered by an infantryman. We knew they had sheets to sleep on, ice cream to eat, and a place that they could call home in time of war.

I don't want to claim to be a thinker, but it seems to me that the Navy must have been around somewhere when they put the soldiers on the shore. Months ahead, the Navy said we'll land three divisions at 9:15 in the morning. The Navy landed three divisions at 9:15. The Navy got out at 9:16, which is just what the Navy should do.

Make This Column Brusque

Let's make this entire column brusque. Let me address all the men who never got shot at, either as an infantryman or as a member of the Navy. I speak now as a foot soldier. The sailors laid back in those funny seats behind their guns and shot for you. I like them. I'll bet you those boys didn't want to get shot at. But as long as that battle pennant was flying from their ship they figured they'd better fire. That ship was their pride, and I'd like to know how many messages were ever sent to mothers, wives or sweethearts saying that your men fell down—couldn't take it.

They laugh at the Navy's traditions. I think we should. If there's anything more ridiculous in peacetime than the Navy's traditions, I haven't found it yet. When they black out, and start running, looking for something to shoot at, even the soldier has to take off his hat to them once in awhile. It's awful tough to tip your soldier hat on a battleship or a transport carrier.

Admirals are stuffy. When shells are flying through their cabins, they eat kippers for breakfast. That's for me. It takes a man to do that! I never could figure out whether admirals liked bullets or kippers better. Let me ask one thing of the rest of the United States—how many sailors ever quit?

We now have the Navy in mothballs. All wrapped up in grease and politics, and if you want my personal opinion, I think that politics are the greasier. This country is going to rise and fall on one thing—the men who live in it. If you want to sell the men short, and make them sissies, and make socialists out of them they might follow along. If you want to give them pensions, free medicine, free living at home when they are not doing anything, men will go that way. This country was built because men had a simple belief in themselves. This country was founded when no one knew how to write a letter to Washington.

I'm Ashamed Of Myself

I want to tell you right now, I'm ashamed of myself. The land I live on some American chased a Spaniard off, and he didn't ask a pension for shooting. Let's make this dead straight. If we are not men in this country, if we are not equal to the heritage that was handed down to us, let us go under. Talk about the atom bomb—if it falls on us we ask for it. If a country that was carved out of nothing has to take one backward step for anybody—then let us take it gently and admit we can't fight.

Russia? The day I live as a man and a guy from Siberia is better than I am or the guy from Moscow should win. This country has got to come down to a fundamental principle. This happens to be a country that was built on all the things that men stand for, and the day we don't fight for them we'll let all the buried dead down.

I started off with the Navy. I want to finish with the Navy. For every man who criticizes it, there are two blue jackets sleeping forever for their country. It gives me a slow turn in my stomach when I read about elderly senators and congressmen selling short a part of our country made up of men who fought for it and didn't care to talk about it. If in the years to come we don't need a Navy, let us pay them just to be around.

We spend thousands of dollars preserving the buffalo, and who ever saw a buffalo move through the hedgerows in defense of the sweetest thing I ever saw—the red and the blue and the white, all messed up with stars!

If you think I'm being over-patriotic, just remember one thing—try to think what colors you would wear them for. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"I expect to be vilified for my statement," said Arthur Garfield Hays, international lawyer and author, at a recent meeting at which the subject of intolerance was being discussed.

Likewise do I expect to be vilified for the statements I am about to make on the same subject.

However, this matter of tolerance and intolerance has become such a tremendously important factor in our national life that it should be discussed openly and without fear.

Fussfooting has never yet been the cure for any disease or any evil.

Mr. Hays expressed the opinion that laws and organizations seeking to curb the growth of intolerance of minorities do more harm than good.

He said he favored fair employment practices brought about by persuasion and publicity rather than compulsion on employers to hire persons they don't want.

When stating that he expected to be vilified for his opinions, he remarked "That is another objection I have to these organizations. They vilify people who dare say anything about intolerance different from the organization point. Their purposes are laudable, but I disagree with their methods."

I have always maintained that the word "tolerance" is a misnomer. To tolerate something means "to put up with, to bear up under, to endure."

I am sure that is not what those who plead for tolerance, and try to enforce it, have in mind.

What they want is mutual respect, equality, not only under the law, but in spirit, affection and brotherhood.

Those objectives can be accomplished only by behavior. Superficial equality can be enforced by law. But no law passes against people's natural inclinations can ever be made effective. Prohibition was proof of that.

Frankly, I have noticed that

BIBLE THOUGHT

When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools; pay that which thou hast vowed. Better is it that thou shouldst not vow, than that thou shouldst vow and not pay.—Ecclesiastes 5:4, 5.

Jury Called For Final Case Of Present Term Of Civil Court

One more case after the one being tried in court room No. 1 and the present term of civil court will be over.

The case of H. M. Reynolds and his wife against the Wilson Aviation company is still on trial but should be finished by tonight.

In order to dismiss as many jurors as possible, a jury was picked for the last case which will start immediately after the Reynolds case has gone to the jury. It is the case of Elizabeth Taylor versus Mooney Brothers and Anthony P. Stoner. Mr. Stoner is a driver for Mooney Brothers.

On September 29, 1948, it is alleged the plaintiff's car was parked at the curb in front of her home at 460 East Washington street. A tractor-trailer driven by Stoner came down the street and it is claimed hit the parked car. Damages are asked.

OPEN BALLOT BOX

Due to an error in the returns of the ninth precinct of the second ward, New Castle, it was necessary for the official recount board to open the ballot box on Wednesday.

The return sheet showed 364 votes cast for William D. Cobau as school director, two-year term, and 127 for Nancy D. Slater. The work sheet showing the tally had 484 votes counted for Mr. Cobau and 127 for Mrs. Slater.

The board recounted all the ballots and found 376 for Cobau and 129 for Mrs. Slater. Apparently 100 more votes has been counted for Mr. Cobau than had been cast, although the return sheet was about right. Only 538 votes were cast in the election.

In the recount 12 ballots were found to have been invalidated.

This was the second box opened. Previously the box of the sixth precinct of the fourth ward (not the second) had to be opened.

A recheck of the return sheet showed Joseph Medure for city council gaining 25 votes, in the second precinct of the second ward, his total now reading 197 for Mr. Medure instead of 172 as shown on the unofficial return.

STUDENT VISITORS

About 100 ninth grade students of the George Washington Junior high school visited the court house Wednesday, all of them students in civics. They were accompanied by Ralph S. Wadding and Richard Muse, instructors of the school.

The youngsters made a complete tour of the court house properties including the jail. The jail seemed to have a lot of interest for them, but it did seem as though the young ladies paid a little extra attention to the marriage license bureau.

POISON BAIT AIDS IN RAT CONTROL

Rat control is a never ending job. Various methods are used to kill rats, including the use of traps of all kinds, cats and dogs, and poisons. Of these methods, the use of poison bait is most effective when properly done.

Several poisons are available, but fortified red squill is suggested because it is effective and reasonably safe. Since it is an emetic, most animals rid themselves of the poison before serious damage is done. Since rats cannot vomit they retain the poison and are killed.

Since rats are clever, poisons must be used with care. Place poison baits in small chunks, the size of marbles, where rats are known to travel. Place on clean surfaces, not in dust. Place enough bait for all rats—they will not take more bait for a month of six weeks. Use bait so that other animals will have little chance to find and eat it.

USE OF FERTILIZER HAS GAINED RAPIDLY

The use of fertilizer has increased at a rapid rate since it hit a low point during the depression years in 1932. This increase in the use of fertilizer has been an important factor in the increasing farm production seen in recent years.

Lawrence county has been a part in the increased use of fertilizer. It is estimated that local farmers are using three times as much plant food as in the 1930's. Fertilizer prices have advanced moderately in comparison with the prices of other commodities, but farmers have found it hard to obtain all the fertilizer they wanted to use.

The supply outlook is better now than it has been for some years. However, the heavy demand may maintain present prices. Many farmers are likely to find that the actual expenditures for this item for 1950 will be about the same, or even above that of last year.

Voice Of America Chief Gets Transfer, Wedding Postponed

ROME, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Charlie Thayer, former "Voice of America" chief who came to Rome last week with wedding bells in the offing, was unexpectedly summoned by the State department today for a new mission.

The transfer compelled Thayer to postpone his scheduled November 21 marriage to Cynthia Dunn, daughter of U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn.

In Washington, a State department spokesman said that orders are being prepared to transfer Thayer to Germany to meet an "emergency situation" there. The department failed to explain the nature of the "emergency." Thayer, it said, will be on the staff of James W. Riddleberger, political advisor to U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy.

Announcement by the Third Civil Service Regional office of two examinations, that of treasury enforcement agent and administrative assistant, which restricts competition to persons entitled to 10-point preference, also gives an explanation for the restriction.

Under the Veterans Preference Act of 1944, veterans with service connected disabilities; men who received the Purple Heart; widows of honorably discharged veterans, wives of veterans with service-connected disabilities, and widowed, divorced, or legally separated mothers of deceased or totally disabled veterans, are entitled to 10-point preference.

These names, it is provided, shall be placed at the top of the list for jobs other than those which are professional, scientific or technical.

All interested and qualified persons may make inquiry relative to the examinations with Miss Garnet Rhodes, secretary of the Civil Service board at the Post Office here.

City Valuations For Tax Purposes Reach $107,953,280

Assessed value of real estate for tax purposes for 1950, is $50,953,280 and the assessed value of the city income tax is $57,000,000, or a total of $107,953,280, according to City Finance Director Albert A. Hoyland.

In reference to the City Pension fund, Mr. Hoyland said the city is permitted to make a contribution to the fund of three-tenths of one mill.

"We are using three-twentieth of one mill, or one-half of what is permissible," he explained.

On the basis of a total assessed valuation of $107,953,280, three-twentieth of one mill is $16,192.99, he added, then concluded.

"If a taxpayer was assessed a total of $8,000 for property and income, he would pay on account of the pension for 150 members, not including the police and firemen, three-twentieth of one mill, or $1.20 a year, and for the seven elected officials, he would pay on their account, $0.56, or five, and six tenths cents."

City Police Still Aid Local Library

Delinquency Of Borrowers Cause Of Additional Work For Library-City Police

The Police department continues to cooperate with the Public Library in the collection of library books long overdue.

Officer George Sigler with a police car took the librarian on fourteen calls Tuesday in different parts of the city, collecting seven books and some fines. Some of those called upon were not at home, others promised to bring the books back to the library this week.

To date fifty-five calls have been made and thirty-six books collected. This expenditure of the time of two persons, effort and gasoline is necessary only because of the carelessness or delinquency of some borrowers.

Local Student Sees Nehru And Einstein

Vincent Lamorella, football star-honor student and class president of the New Castle High class of 1949, now a freshman at Princeton University, has written to some of his friends about an interesting experience.

The following is from his letter: "Pandit Nehru, the prime minister of India, visited here recently and I snapped some pictures of him. I was included in a group picture with him. I was very thrilled because I brushed shoulders with him on one side and his sister on the other side. Motion pictures were taken of this group."

"I have also heard Henry Wallace and Albert Einstein, whose home is at Princeton. Mr. Einstein was the person who really left an impression on me. His humbleness and great age are something to see. He seems very shy. When he entered the lecture hall, the students all rose from their seats and clapped for five minutes. I have never seen such an overawed audience. I'll never forget this experience."

Vincent has been playing with the second team of the freshman football squad and is doing very well scholastically.

Dramamine Called Air Sickness Cure

DENVER—(INS)—Col. A. D. Tuttle, medical director of United Air Lines says that out of every 1,000 people who travel by air, less than six ever are airsick, and now even those few can stop worrying.

The colonel's report followed the first extensive airline tests of dramamine, widely acclaimed new remedy for motion sickness. He said:

"Given early enough, dramamine is a sure-fire preventative of air sickness."

Over a three-month period, stewards gave dramamine to 2,111 passengers who already were ill, with, or prone to, airsickness. An overwhelming percentage reported complete relief. The relatively few who obtained little or no relief would have responded favorably, Col. Tuttle said, if the drug had been taken before they became sick.

Dosages used in the tests consisted of one tablet (100 milligrams) to adults and fractions of a tablet to children, in accordance with their age.

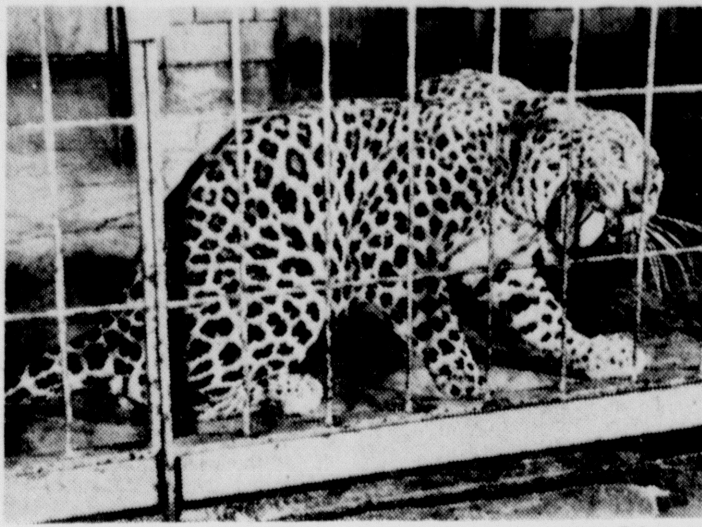

On the basis of the tests, Col. Tuttle believes that persons subject to airsickness will experience none of its symptoms if they take one tablet of dramamine before going aloft.

Men Enlisting In Army November 23 To Receive Leaves

"Russian Poker" Slayer Paroled

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Parole was approved Wednesday for 21-year-old James J. Malone, of Lancaster, sent to Eastern Penitentiary in 1945 for the "Russian poker" slaying of a 13-year-old companion.

The commutation was among 15 granted by Gov. James H. Duff along with five pardons of the recommendation of the State Pardons board.

The victim, William H. Long, was slain in a drug store when Malone inserted one bullet in a revolver, spun the chamber and pointed the gun at Long.

He snapped the trigger when the chamber stopped and left to chance the possibility that the bullet was out of firing position. The odds are four to one that the bullet is not in position to be fired.

The State Supreme Court affirmed the five to 10-year sentence imposed by the Lancaster county court for second degree murder.

The restaurateurs say the jump in the cost of coffee to them is responsible for the increase.

JUST PUNCH IN NOSE AFTER ALL

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—That much vaunted mark of the human—masculine inability to shed tears—may be due to just a poke in the nose.

Such is the boiled down statement of Dr. L. V. Credit of Amarillo, Texas. It was made at a Columbus medical conference with the tongue-tangling title of the Osteopathic College of Ophthalmology and Otorhinolaryngology. Dr. Credit told eye, ear, nose and throat specialists that obstruction of the tear duct may follow fracture of the bones or nose, thus causing poor function of the tear sac.

U.S. Aid Asked
By Panama Paper

PANAMA CITY—(INS)—The Panama City Newspaper, La Nacion, has launched a campaign for a "Little Marshall Plan" for Latin America.

The newspaper called for the conversion of the Panama Canal into a sea-level waterway, a move which it predicted would be a boon to the world's shipping and an aid to the economies of the nearby countries.

La Nacion said editorially that the project would put two and one-half billion dollars into circulation in Colombia, Ecuador, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador and Guatemala.

The editorial said the cost to the U. S. taxpayer would be more than made up by the maintenance of "the rhythm of production."

'Husband For Sale' Friday

Aunt Sophronia will be played by Margaret Lyons; Warren Bingham, Dick Hanna, Emmet Hunting, Richard Mayberry, and Clement Hunter, Thomas Jones.

Many hilarious situations make the play even more amusing than the title suggests.

Mrs. Robert McCrumb has been directing the rehearsals and is in charge of the play.

Probably the American Indian's most important contribution to our welfare was corn. A friendly Indian by the name of Samoset in 1621 gave a few kernels to Miles Standish of the Plymouth Colony, and told him to plant them. This was the white man's introduction to corn.

Election Next Year To Show Fate Of Nation

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—A Republican campaign chairman today told GOP women at Harrisburg that the outcome of the 1950 congressional will determine whether America will become a socialist state.

Cong. Leonard Hall (D) N. Y., chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign committee, told delegates to the 27th annual meeting of Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women:

"I am making a prediction. We are at the cross roads and we are in a fight. The road we are to take will be made by the congressional elections of 1950.

"If we, in the next election, lose Republican seats in Congress and the Senate, we will have a socialist form of government right here in America."

He said his committee only had a backlog of $5,000 for expenses compared to what he said was a million dollar war chest in the Democratic ranks.

Last night, a New York congresswoman told delegates that Republicans must stop fighting among themselves and "go out and win."

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST OSBORNE

Thanksgiving Party

Thanksgiving lends itself to "kids' parties so very well. Perhaps it's the idea of lots to eat, perhaps it's the Indians and the Pilgrims that appeal. Whatever it is, Thanksgiving runs a close second to Christmas and Fourth of July as a favorite holiday.

Often it's primarily a family holiday. But even if no guests are invited, it's fun for the youngsters to have a party. Autumn decorations—cornstalks, pumpkins, colored leaves—are easy for children to arrange effectively. Refreshments can be simple, too. Cider, turkey sandwiches, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie or sherbert are all special treats. They are easily prepared from the regular Thanksgiving fare.

Games with a Thanksgiving motif can be improvised, too. "Landing on Plymouth Rock" is the Thanksgiving version of Musical Chairs. Magazines serve as rocks and there is always one less than there are players. Music is played and when the music stops, the person who has no magazine on which to step is counted as falling in the water. The game goes on with another magazine removed until there are only two players and one magazine. Relay races with ears of corn to be carried from one part of the room to the other by Indians and Pilgrims can be exciting, too. And if you give the youngsters a chance they will probably figure out many other Thanksgiving-centered games.

Lancaster Workmen Get New Contract

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 17.—(INS)—Employees of the Hamilton Watch company in Lancaster today were bound by a new contract minus wage increases but carrying a sickness, accident and hospitalization plan.

The contract will expire November 1, 1950.

In the Armstrong Cork company's floor and closure plants in Lancaster, the CIO-United Rubber Workers were certified yesterday by the National Labor Relations board as the bargaining agency for 4,200 workers.

The CIO, which has represented the workers since 1944, defeated a proposed AFL union by a vote of two-to-one.

WINDSOR GUIDES NOW TELL TRUTH

LONDON.—(INS)—Some who at chastened guides at historic Windsor Castle are sticking reluctantly to established facts these days and their "spies" now are unvarnished history sans innuendo.

Following complaints about "tall" stories told to tourists, the corps of guides has received instructions to tell the truth and nothing but the truth.

The ancient ramparts no longer ring with laughter over the private lives of King Henry VIII and his many wives, and the guides are obviously unhappy.

"Tours will not be nearly so interesting," said one.

Economy League Silent On State Taxes For Bonus

Makes Survey Of Various Methods
Of Raising Money, But Supports No Way

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Economy League emphasized Wednesday that it "makes no recommendations either supporting or opposing any specific taxes" which could be used to retire the half-billion dollar debt incurred from the soldiers' bonus program.

The league statement followed disclosure Tuesday that its unpublished survey indicated a one percent sales tax would yield between $54 million and $86 million dollars a year depending on exemptions.

Welles A. Gray, director of the league's state division, issued a statement last night in which he pointed out:

"The Pennsylvania Economy League has not made any confidential study of the sales tax but has replied to questions asking for factual information concerning sales and many other forms of taxation. All such replies are of necessity based on given sets of assumptions."

"The league makes a continuing study of the state's financial picture. In this connection it has explored and is exploring many sources of revenue and means of reducing expenditures."

"In response to official requests, the league is currently making numerous studies for both executive and legislative branches of the government."

"The league makes no recommendations either supporting or opposing any specific taxes."

Nation's Surplus Rice Reserves Being Reduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The government is whittling down the nation's surplus rice reserves by boosting export authorizations by 20 per cent during the second half of 1949.

The Agriculture department authorized overseas shipment of an additional 110,250,000 pounds of rice by December 31, upping the 1949 total export quota to 584,990,000 pounds.

Countries eligible to receive the additional rice include China, Cuba, India, Palestine, South Africa, Denmark, Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, the French, British and American zones of Germany, Greece, Ireland, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and Finland.

Export controls on American rice will be ended on next December 31 and rigid production controls may be clamped on 1950 output.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan already has declared that at least acreage allotments—a mild form of production control—will be slapped on next year's output. The 1949 rice crop is estimated at a record 47,491,000 bushels.

Jehovah Issues Great Invitation

ASKS ALL PEOPLES TO COME TO HIM

Scripture—Isaiah 55: 56:6-8

The soul's awakening.

"My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples."—Isaiah 56:7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Modern man has more food and better for his sustenance than did his ancestors. He has more machinery and gadgets to lighten his labors; more luxurious means of travel, shorter working hours, more and better literature and means of educating himself.

Yet, with all these material things he still is in a feverish state of mind—restless, unsatisfied.

The child in the world of today is likewise better off in a material way. Instead of walking miles to school as his grandfather and grandmother did, he is transported in private automobiles or buses.

He has more modern and interesting methods of receiving his education, more pleasant playgrounds. His teachers and his parents study up-to-date systems that will enable them to understand and help children to adjust themselves to life.

With all these advantages, is he any happier than he was when living conditions were primitive—according to today's standards? It is doubtful.

Today's lesson strives to show us that is not material things that make for happiness, but a way of life that emphasizes right living, holiness—knowledge of God and His goodness, and earnest striving to lead the kind of life that would meet His approval.

Isaiah gives Jehovah's message to his people—the great invitation He makes to all the peoples of the earth to come to Him and learn to live that whether one be rich or poor, well or ill, wise or ignorant, he can be really happy and enjoy the rich blessing of the earth.

Chapter 55 begins: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk, without money and without price."

"Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread?" and your labor for that which satisfieth not?"

"Incline your ear and come unto Me; hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David."

The children in class will remember David, the shepherd boy who was chosen to rule over his people. He too sinned, but he repented so sincerely that he was forgiven and lived to write many of the beautiful Psalms that we have been studying.

Then "ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

That is Isaiah's poetic way of describing the joy that will come to us after we have attained knowledge of what constitutes real happiness and have adopted it as our own.

All the peoples of the world can attain this blessed state of mind. They need not throw away their modern conveniences; in fact, they can enjoy them more fully if they realize that they are after all, just gadgets.

They do not make life happier, except as we employ them for the good of mankind. Love, understanding, serving our fellow men as Jesus did and told us to do. These are the real things.

"Also the sons of the stranger, that join themselves to the Lord, to serve Him, and to love the name of the Lord. Even them will I bring to My holy mountain, and make them joyful in My house of prayer."

The invitation extends to the outcasts—not alone those of Israel, but of all lands everywhere.

In our day the so-called displaced persons continue to be a problem in many lands. Homeless, with most—if not all—their possessions taken from them, they wander over the earth, trying to find peaceful homes and to begin life over again. They need the comfort of Jehovah's invitation more than any others.

This may seem a difficult lesson to teach to children, but it can be made interesting.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Designers have big news up their sleeves... it's sleeves!

After a season of bare shoulders and sleeveless styles, the highlight of next spring's dress will be wrist or elbow-length arm coverers.

They will be flounced, from shoulder to wrist, ruffled from mid-arm to wrist; bell, leghorn and puffed. Regardless of their particular style, sleeves will be the focal point of interest.

Paris Designer Christian Dior started the trend when he announced that "Wherever there is trimming on my new spring clothes, it will be on the sleeves."

Designers have befriended the trend, virtually outlawing nude arms!

Medure Declines To Join Council Budget Meeting

Follows Schweinsberg's Example In Declining To Attend Sessions

Following the example of Republican councilman-elect, E. Eugene Schweinsberg, Joseph F. Medure, Democratic councilman-elect, on Wednesday afternoon had a letter delivered to Mayor John F. Haven stating he would not attend the budget meetings of city council.

Up to the time of the delivery, the mayor and council colleagues expected Mr. Medure to attend the meeting, which was first scheduled for Wednesday morning and when he did not arrive, was postponed until Wednesday afternoon.

Wednesday morning a member of council reported that Medure had telephoned he would be present. This was taken to imply he had telephoned the councilman to this effect.

During the afternoon of Wednesday it was learned that a mutual friend of both Medure and the councilman had informed the latter of Mr. Medure's desire to attend the budget meeting.

Later, when the councilman telephoned the mutual friend he was advised that Mr. Medure was working.

Believing his vocation kept him from the morning meeting it was delayed until Wednesday afternoon but was called off until today after Mr. Medure wrote he would not attend.

Medure's Letter

His letter to Mayor John F. Haven follows:

Hon. John F. Haven
November 15, 1949
Members of City Council
City Building
New Castle, Penna.
Gentlemen:

I want to take this opportunity of thanking you for the invitation to attend your budget meeting. I feel it would be inadvisable, before I have been sworn into office, to attend.

During the past four years your body has made commitments to which I was not a party and many of which I do not approve.

Permit me to say, that when I am sworn in and become a councilman, I shall disapprove any of the taxpayer's money going for pensions for elected officials. I shall disapprove any expenditures for the duplication of collection of taxes, and I shall attempt to obtain greater revenue from city owned property.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) JOSEPH F. MEDURE

GIRL WHO DESERTS BOY AT DANCE

"What do you think of a girl who accepts a boy's invitations to dances and who, when they arrive at a dance, goes merrily away showering her attentions on other boys. A girl of my acquaintance does this to me. Whenever I take her out she seems delighted; but as soon as we arrive at each party, I see very little of her for the remainder of the evening. I am very fond of her and cannot resist 'sticking my neck out'."

Answer: Why take her out? I think she is "using you for a good thing" to use the slang expression. If you find her so irresistible that you cannot refrain from inviting her to your parties and dances, you should at least inquire just what her motive is.

Tell her how hurt you are that she should accept your companionship to and from dances, then desert you in the interim. She is either unpopular and grasps your invitations merely to remain in circulation and possibly angle for someone more desirable to her; or she has a false idea that this technique will impress you with her tremendous popularity.

Have a show-down with her. If she is using you merely as a stepping stone, don't waste any more time on her. As soon as she meets someone more to her specifications, she may drop you like a hot potato.

Question: I am to be a bridesmaid at a wedding. Would it be correct for me to invite a young man with whom I have been going around? He is not my fiance but I feel that I would have a better time were I to take him along as my escort.

Answer: Only those invited by the bride or her parents should attend a wedding. It is not the privilege of any guest to take a friend along. It is not necessary to take an "escort" to a wedding reception.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Coffee And Pie Diet Essentials

OMAHA, Neb.—(INS)—"A man will spend his last nickel for a cup of coffee, and—if it's good, he'll be back."

Miss Helen Foster, new director of the Omaha YMCA cafeteria, speaking. She believes there's a lesson in this for wives whose spouses complain about the meals. She adds, for restaurant managers:

"Never get caught without an apple pie. I did once in Iowa and I thought it was the end of the world. Never again!"

Men, according to Miss Foster, prefer hamburger and its facilities (meat loaf, meat patties, meat balls, and Salisbury steak) to other meats. They also prefer tomatoes, green beans, corn and peas for vegetables.

In the salad line, they like banana fruit jello and combination vegetable salads, and shy away from kidney bean and pea salads.

Special Language For Aching Autos

PONTIAC, Mich.—(INS)—The car-owning public may soon have a new vocabulary to aid mechanics in treating hospitalized vehicles.

At present, each driver has his own special word to describe that noise he heard in the engine. But if General Motors engineers have their own way, drivers will be able to classify car sounds as "clacks, jangles, fries, grates," and a dozen others.

The engineers educated a fleet of transport truck drivers in the new vocabulary and discovered mechanics could speedily remedy the fault from a driver's written report and nothing else.

The White House announcement stated that Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup will head the conference "which will have as its object a general review of the situation in the Far East."

The president conferred for an hour and 20 minutes this morning with seven of his highest advisors on Far Eastern policy.

The conference, which was headed by Secretary of State Acheson, dealt with the situation brought about by Communist advances in China.

Ex-Army Sergeant Charged With Treason

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The justice department today announced the indictment for treason of John David Provoo, 33, an ex-Army sergeant, charging him with 12 overt treasonous acts.

Rev. Everett Penrod read the marriage service in the Nazarene church of Redlands in the presence of 75 guests. American flags, palms and baskets of chrysanthemums and roses decorated the church for the occasion.

Huge New Tax Bill Is Being Shaped Up Now

Experts Working On Framing Of New Tax Proposals For Nation Next Year

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Treasury and congressional revenue experts are working today on a huge new tax bill for next year.

Colin F. Stam, chief of staff of the joint House-Senate Tax committee, said that legislative and administrative, revenue specialists have been meeting almost daily since Congress adjourned October 19.

The information gathered will form the basis for new tax legislation which Congress will consider when it reconvenes January 3. President Truman is expected to ask for a tax boost in his State-of-the-Union message.

In view of the president's statement that sufficient revenue must be found so that the government's income will balance its expenditures, it is believed that a request may be made for an annual tax rise of five billion dollars or more.

Although Mr. Truman has not yet disclosed how large a tax increase he will request, he has predicted a five and a half billion dollar deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Stam said the date will be submitted to Congress' two tax-writing bodies, the House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance committee. The House group intimates new tax legislation.

Data Is Asked

Stam revealed that the tax experts have been asked by Rep. Doughton (D. N. C., chairman of the joint committee, to gather data:

1. Sources of revenue.
2. Reductions in wartime excise (consumers) taxes.
3. Revisions in the existing tax laws.
4. Tax loopholes.

Stam declined to predict what the Ways and Means committee would do in the face of the steadily rising government deficit.

However, it is believed that the committee will seriously consider these steps if it decides to write new tax legislation:

1. New taxes, probably on corporations and high-individual incomes.
2. A reduction or elimination in certain wartime excise taxes, especially the consumer levies on transportation, communications, light bulbs, and other necessities of life which Congress included in the so-called luxury class.
3. The raising of additional revenue through the closing of tax loopholes, a fertile source of additional funds if Congress wishes to get tough with organizations which now legally except the payment of taxes.
4. Modernization of the tax statutes to make them more amenable to present conditions, a step which has long been urged by the Treasury department.

PRESIDENT IS STUDYING COAL DISPUTE MOVES

President's advisers as to which move the government should make.

One official said there is a possibility that the original plan for fact-finding may be abandoned. Until today this appeared to be the certain course of action.

Advocates of fact-finding contend the administration should be consistent and offer Lewis and the coal producers the same procedure used to solve the steel pension controversy.

They are urging Mr. Truman to set up a board to investigate the coal dispute and save the Taft-Hartley law as a last-resort measure.

The President reportedly is inclined to have little patience with Lewis, however, since his bitter attack on Mr. Truman at the Miners' convention last year. Moreover, the union leader has displayed opposition to fact-finding.

May Crack Down

Hence, the possibility has developed that Mr. Truman might issue orders for an immediate crack-down on the United Mine Workers' president through a court injunction.

Only two days ago the union paid a $1,420,000 fine to the government for violating an anti-strike injunction in 1948.

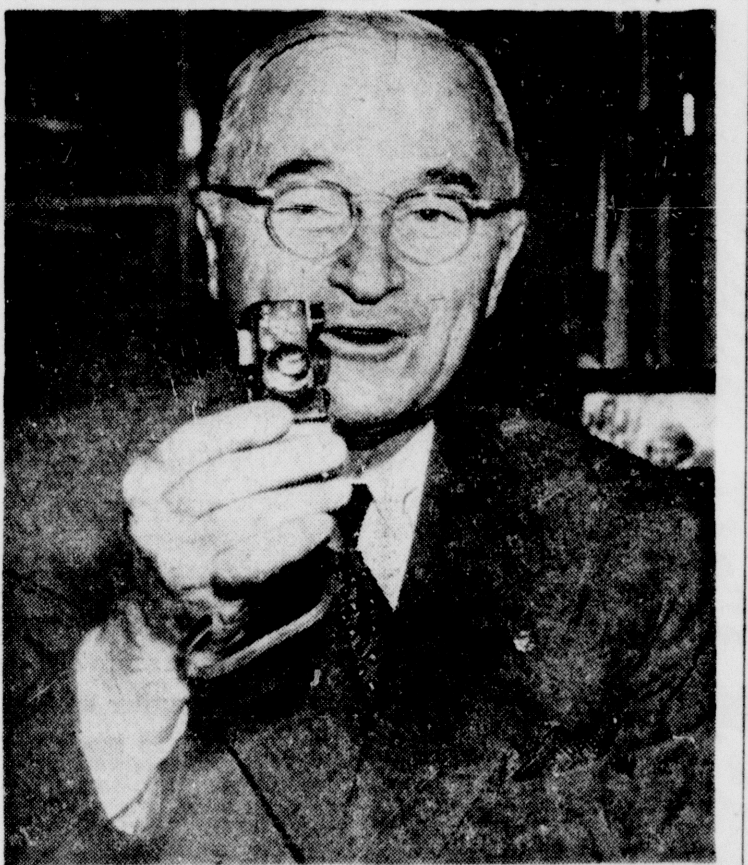

The White House took over the coal controversy after Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching reported that "further mediation at this time would be fruitless."

Ching said the parties appeared to be farther apart now than when they began talking about a new coal contract last spring.

The mediation director brought no hope of an early break in the deadlock. Lewis continued to demand contract improvements and the operators maintained they can do no more than renew the money terms of the old agreement which expired last June 30.

President Gets Even With Cameramen

Observance Of Kids' Week On

New Castle Kiwanis Club Hears Margaret Henry Home Head Wednesday

TELLS OF WORK AMONG CHILDREN

New Castle Kiwanis club started its observance of National Kids' Week at their noon luncheon meeting Wednesday, when they had Mrs. Lida J. Green, matron of the Margaret Henry Home, and several of the smaller children as their guests.

Mrs. Green told of their work at the home in caring for the 38 children, who are their wards. Mrs. Green, who has spent 20 years there helping to care for the children, many of whom come from broken homes, stated that most of the children were there, not because of any fault of their own, but mostly their parents.

The task of taking care of these children, getting their meals and getting them off to school in time is a big one for the two women in charge.

In all her 20 years, she states that only two children have turned out badly.

Club Is Thanked
She thanked the club for its interest in the home in helping it to carry on the work among these underprivileged children. It is the only home a great many of them have ever known, and many of them come back for regular visits.

A. H. Mellor, president-elect of the club, gave an interesting report on the highlights of the district convention held in Pittsburgh.

Harry Mayberry, brother of Kiwanian Jim Mayberry, was a special guest. Mr. Mayberry, a former local resident, now resides in Eastonville, N. J.

President John A. McGrath called the attention of the club members to the special broadcast on National Kids' Week, which will be heard over the American broadcasting system through Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Youngstown stations Friday evening starting at 10 o'clock.

A good watch contains a screw so tiny that 50,000 of them will fit in an ordinary thimble.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH

With More Comfort
FASTEETH, a pleasant, alkaline (non-acid) powder, holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Check "plate color" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Women Aid In Christmas Seal Mailing Program

Fisher, Mrs. David W. Nesbit, Mrs. W. A. Confer and Mrs. John Simons.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.—Four fine film beauties let down their hair—

Joan Crawford, who subscribes to the theory that any girl can get a guy, today told 17,794 man-less women in Hollywood to stop fretting and start fixing their hair. That's correct—the latest census figures show that there are only 61,154 gents in movietown and 78,948 gals. And Miss Crawford wants to help the unattached cuties latch onto a feller.

Women Do Chasing
"The man-getting job would be a cinch," she said. "If Hollywood women would take a careful look at themselves in the mirror every morning, they'd soon start making a few improvements."

"Despite all the ballyhoo, some of the sloppiest women in the world live right in the heart of Hollywood."

"Men out here never do the chasing—the women do."

GERTIE SHOCKING

Gertrude Lawrence expects to shock her American audiences when they see the international favorite in her first Hollywood film, "The Glass Menagerie."

Gorgeous Gertie—normally sophisticated—will have her hair in curlers, she will wear a faded bathrobe and tacky nightgown, both padded to make her look 20 pounds heavier. She wailed:

"The new movie catchline will be: 'Whopped to Gertie?' It's a heavy role—it even outweighs the padding. But oh, to be the old Gertie again! I don't know if I like Hollywood or not."

SHORTER DRESSES

Edith Head, who has whipped up clothes for such style leaders as Betty Hutton, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Fontaine, Paulette Goddard and Dorothy Lamour, predicts that next season milady will be wearing shorter dresses, unpadded shoulders and very slim skirts.

"If that isn't the style then I'll be the most embarrassed fashion designer in the business," she said. Edith concocted the clothes for Joan Fontaine to wear in "Hal Wallis' 'September' the picture won't be released until late in 1950."

"My job," she said, "was to sit down and figure what the women of America will be wearing at that time. My prediction is based on information from manufacturers and other designers."

We agreed that the accent will be on legs next year."

PAT IS DIFFERENT

Pat Marlowe is an oddity. She is a Hollywood star in who doesn't want to be a star.

The stately blonde, currently standing-in for Jane Wyman, declared:

"I'm probably the only stand-in in town who has no ambitions to be a leading lady. I earn more money than an extra and I'm assured of seven or eight weeks work at a time. An extra sits by the telephone and works only once or twice in two months."

"I'm not conceited enough to think I could be a star."

"Besides, I prefer being a housewife to acting."

Pat is married to actor Frank Marlowe.

TWO SUICIDES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The coroner's office today reported the suicides of two Pittsburgh World War veterans.

Lee W. Nanna, 40, who served in the Anti-Tank Corps in World War II, died in a fall from a Pittsburgh bridge. Friends said Nanna had been in ill health since returning from the service.

Alphonso Pasaro, 52, who served during World War I, hanged himself at the Aspinwall Veterans Hospital where he had been a patient.

Too Eager, Subs Jam Phone Lines

CHICAGO—(INS)—Eager substitute teachers almost did themselves out of jobs when Chicago schools opened this year by swamping the Board of Education with telephone calls.

Edward E. Keener, assistant superintendent of schools, put the dilemma this way:

"Substitutes asking their prospects kept our lines so busy that principals had a hard time reaching us to tell us they were without teachers."

The eager young things evidently had an eye on the newly appropriated $12.50 a day which is paid for substitute teachers in elementary schools and $15 in high schools.

Tourist Street Gets New Face

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—Tourists coming to Mexico this winter will find the Paseo Reform, one of the visitor's favorite streets, changed almost beyond recognition.

The mixture of used car lots, hotels, luxury shops and hole-in-the-wall Indian stores has remained the same. But the street itself has undergone a radical face lifting.

A dividing platform has been built down the center of the roadway to the beginning of the boulevard. Most of it has been planted in native cacti in dozens of varieties.

A weather station has been invented to operate for weeks or months in places where human observers cannot survive.

Customers' Corner

Why will food prices go up if the anti-trust lawyers win their suit to put A&P out of business?

Here is just one of a number of reasons: We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight o'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

Because this saves us money we are able to pass along these savings to our customers in the form of lower prices. The anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

THRIFTY FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

The fruits and vegetables in A&P's Produce Department are naturally fresher . . . naturally better. And, of course, they're marked with A&P's value-giving prices, so pick plenty!

Bonus Applications Should Be Ready By First Of December

Commanders Of 10 Veterans Organizations Enlisted To Help With Details

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Approximately 3,000,000 state bonus applications are scheduled to be distributed to Pennsylvania's ex-servicemen and women shortly after December 1.

Plans call for the half-billion dollars to be apportioned to veterans by early spring. Commonwealth bonds will be sold to get the money to pay the bonus.

State Adj. Gen. F. A. Weber emphasized that distribution plans are expected to be completed by the end of November and that commanders of the 10 veterans organizations in Pennsylvania will be enlisted to help with administrative details on the local level.

Applications and information booklets will be distributed through each organization's posts and will be available in other states as well as army posts, camps and various service organizations, according to Weber. The total number of applications reflects a 20 per cent allowance for damage.

Two Forms

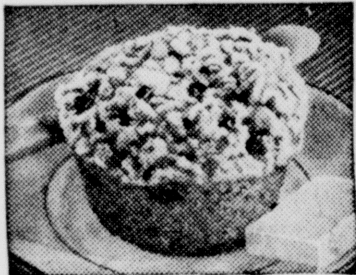

Two forms will be available (1) For honorary discharged veterans or men still in service and (2) For beneficiaries of deceased servicemen and veterans suffering mental incapacity.

Those using Form One must have it notarized and return it with "original discharge or separation papers or other official record of separation," according to Weber. Men and women still in service must have their commanding officer take the affidavit.

Weber emphasized that the original discharge or separation papers will be returned to applicants after examinations. He urged applicants to record papers with county recorders of deeds.

Metal Shop For Ninth Graders

Forming of metal in the metal shop by a ninth grade junior high school student. One of the fundamentals of the metal working course is the stretching and forming of it.

Metal shop, for the ninth-grade boys in the city's junior high schools, is one of the original courses taught under the Industrial Arts program.

Wood shop, which was discussed last week, and metal shop were the two courses offered when the program was inaugurated by the New Castle public school in 1940. Instructors of the metal shop then and now are Ralph C. Humphrey, at Benjamin Franklin and John J. Duran at George Washington.

The course in metal work consists of three parts:

1. Art metal work.
 2. Sheet metal work.
 3. Ornamental iron work.
- Art metal work consists of working with aluminum and copper—the cutting, hammering and forming. At the present time the boys in the schools are learning the fundamentals.

They are working on bracelets now, with all boys doing the same project. Later, when they have course was suspended. Since that time there have been no great demand for instruction along those lines and the course has never got started again.

A total of 229 ninth grade boys in the city's junior high schools are taking metal shop this year. This course, as well as wood working and other Industrial Arts courses, is for regular junior high school students, not vocational students.

The courses are taught in the basement of the west wing of George Washington junior high school and in the vocational building at Benjamin Franklin.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Depression stories bring to mind the one about the family of four brothers. Three were spectacularly successful Wall Street operators the fourth was an amiable cuss who had just about enough sense to sit down when he was tired. The three shining lights took care of their less gifted brother. Every time one of them bought ten thousand shares of a stock, he'd add a couple of hundred in the name of the lame duck.

In July, 1929, the fourth brother fell ill and was told by the doctor that he was the victim of an incurable disease, and couldn't live another 10 months. He sold every share of stock he owned for about a million in cash, put his affairs in order, and prepared to have as much fun as possible in the little time he had left. Of course, the three geniuses were wiped out completely in October. And the lame duck's disease wasn't incurable after all. He's living on top of the world today, and the three brothers are working for him.

Senior Class Of Shenango High To Present Play

'Peck's Bad Boy' To Be Staged
At School Auditorium
December 4

On December 2, at 8 p. m. the Senior Class of Shenango High School will present the three-act comedy, "Peck's Bad Boy," by Charles George.

This well-known play has become as renowned as "Tom Sawyer and Penrod." Peck's bad boy is a young adolescent who finds it easy to play tricks on anyone who stands in his way. He finds many opportunities to display his talents when his father marries a domineering widow. It takes the bad boy to solve the financial difficulties and to reinstate his father as boss in the home. The method that is used by the bad boy is hilarious comedy.

Have Roles In Play

Lowell Leonhardt and Delores Barron have the roles of the parents while Charles Aiken and Loretta Burick are their two children. The bad boy's cohorts are Eleanor Shoof and William Getchy while the family friends are Wayne Arnold, Don Kalasinen, Robert Mielcunsky, Nancy Rue, Helen Grdnick and Anastasia Zak. The two maids complete the cast and they are Carol Critchlow and Joann McCahay.

Between acts of the play, the school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Leola Rowe, will play appropriate music. The play is under the direction of A. Ventrella.

Henry Payden Will Appear In Program At Slippery Rock

Henry J. Payden, minister of the St. Paul's Baptist church of New Castle, will present a program in the chapel on Slippery Rock College campus on November 21, at 8 o'clock. This program is being presented by the Mu Kappa Gamma, music fraternity of the college.

The program will include selections by Victor Herbert, Jerome Kerns, Sir Arthur Sullivan and others. Mr. Payden will sing several spirituals also.

IN THE OPEN

The weekend came up with a one-two punch in an attempt to knock out the all-golden Indian Summer which has lain in dreamy glory across the land. The first wallop rode on a hard driving gale which shuttled gray rain clouds into firing position. Then came the lethal follow-through—a soaking, steady downpour which held through the day and wound up in an unusual November evening outburst of thunder and lightning.

The countryman plodded around through the rain, booted and slickered against the weeping skies, and mourned the passing of another spell of enchanted days.

Squaw Winter always precedes the real Indian Summer. A short cold snap which pushes the mercury below the freezing point; then the halcyon period of autumn which will always in some way be associated with the Indian. The memory of the redskin pervades the woods. The smoke of his campfire seems again in the air. The hills on which he hunted are red and yellow and dusky like himself.

Sets Blood To Boiling

The Hoosier poet found nothing so rare as a day in June. Then indeed come perfect days. But the countryman who stalks the wayside trails around the calendar knows that it's only a radiant Indian Summer day that sets the gypsy blood to boiling.

There's a grimmer side to Indian Summer. Our pioneer forebears hated and feared these few weeks of mellow sunshine between the first sharp frost and the dark days of Winter. For it was then that the redskin warriors came silently and savagely in sudden ruthless raids. There was a steady dispersal of reluctant leaves during the weekend downpour. The added weight of the absorbed moisture pulled the few remaining leaves out of the tall sycamores by the creek and sent them careening downward. Tall stems of yellow ironweed buckled under the weather, showing long rows of sodden leaves hanging straight down like bedraggled wet wash.

The countryman waded the valley stream, ploughed through the berry tangles on the far bank and emerged on the railroad right-of-way. This offered easy cindered going for a half mile or so. At this point a path cuts up the hillside to a wagon trace which follows back along the slope well above the tracks. The rain drummed a double cadence, quickening the pace of the lone hiker who left the countryside to soak and hastened homeward.

Already in Cold Quarters

Many of the little folk of the outdoors are already in cold weather quarters. For some weeks our screens have been crowded by "lady bugs" seeking a warm hideaway. As I cleaned one of the cellar windows I poked into a cluster of more than 50 of these little red beetles, snugly packed into a small break in the frame.

The annual fall spider invasion is also underway. No matter how carefully the country place is screened, these eight-legged creatures will find their way indoors. For a few weeks we will be coming across them of various types and sizes. I notice that a few wasps have moved into the storage shed, but the first really cold days will finish them off.

Another ruthless invader has joined the battle to take over the laws about our valley home. Apparently frightened in by the wind from nearby waste fields, the tenacious beard grass bearing the jawbreaker name of andropogon has set up camp and apparently plans to stay. I notice abandoned fields clear full of this tall brown perennial, which folks hearabouts call "broom" grass.

Hard cutting only seems to increase determination of this interloper to push up flowering stalks and set the bearded seed. It bides its time and after the sickle bar is put away for the winter suddenly shoots up all over the place. One side of our lawn is now a shimmering mass of the silky beards.

There seems to be only one remedy, and that's to patiently dig out each clump and consign the whole kit and boodle to a bonfire. If I have luck and the new weed killers really work out on the bucktail and English plantain, perhaps next year we'll actually have some real lawn before the crab grass gets started.

Fabulous Fortune In Gems To Be Displayed

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS)—A fabulous fortune in gems, representing 10-million dollars in value, dozens of deaths in curses, and a little bit of good luck, goes on display in New York City next week.

The United Hospital Fund of New York announced that the prizes of the collection of gem-dealer Henry Winston, including the Hope diamond, the "Star of the East," the Jonker diamond, and the "Idol's Eye" will be exhibited for its benefit at Rockefeller Center beginning November 22.

The Hope diamond, probably the best known of the gems, is only the fourth largest of the display. Its 44 1/2 carats compare with the 126 carats of the largest cutting of the Jonker, the 100 carats of the "Star of the East," and the 72-carat "Idol's Eye."

But the Hope is the world's most famous gem. First known in southwest India in 1642, it is superstitiously linked to at least 11 violent deaths, tragedy in two royal houses, and bad luck that befell most of its owners.

The Jonker, by contrast, is associated with good luck. Discovered in 1934 in South Africa, it weighed 726 carats in the rough, the largest uncut diamond known.

Winston's cutters studied it for a year before deciding to break it up into 12 large diamonds, ranging in size from 126 to five carats.

The 12 stones are valued at well over $2,500,000. Eleven have been sold, Winston retaining only the largest.

The "Star of the East" traveled via revolution, theft and intrigue from India to Paris where the late Evelyn Walsh McLean acquired it. Figured in Wars.

The "Idol's Eye" became the property of the Persian Prince Rahab in 1600. It figured in wars, intrigue, revolutions, mysterious "disappearances," loot and plunder of the sultan of Turkey, Abd Al-Hamid, early in this century.

Fearful of a revolt, the sultan plotted to smuggle the gem to France. But his own messenger stole it and sold it to a French pawn shop. From there, by easy stages, it came to Winston.

Among other jewels to be featured in the display are the world's largest sapphire—337.10 carats and once part of the crown jewels of Catherine the Great—a Spanish emerald and diamond necklace, and a 60 carat ring once owned by "Diamond Queen" Mabel Boll.

Mrs. Fred Owens Dies At Warren, O.

Mrs. Jane Meredith Owens, aged 86, widow of the late Fred Owens, died Wednesday at 6:55 p. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Bartlett, 946 Adelaide, S. E. Warren, Ohio. Up until one month ago, Mrs. Owens had resided at 608 West North street, leaving to make her home with her daughter. Infirmitudes of old age brought on her death.

Born in Youngstown, November 2, 1863, she was a daughter of the late Joseph and Margaret Meredith. She was a member of the Central Christian church of this city. A son, Howard L. Owens, preceded her in death in 1942.

Surviving are the children: Ruthford W. Owens, Roseville, Mich.; Mrs. R. A. Bartlett, Warren; Fred A. Owens, this city. A sister, Mrs. Perry Jewell of Girard, Ohio, also survives.

Services are to be conducted Saturday at 3 p. m. from the McFarland and Sons funeral home in Warren, O., with Rev. James N. Rainey of this city officiating. Burial will be in the Four Mile Run Cemetery, Mineral Ridge, Ohio.

The family will be present at the funeral home to receive friends Friday evening, from 7 to 8:30 o'clock.

The Wallflower Is Freshened At New Clinic

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Ann Heywood (left), operator of a career advisory clinic, claims today's wallflower will be tomorrow's choicest rose. Every one of the charmers on Miss Heywood's list were once described as "recreps." Today they are combining men from their hair. Secret, says Miss Heywood, is that they stayed home and broadened their minds. Nancy Andrews, before (center) and after, Miss Andrews was a wallflower, now she can go out every night of the week—if she wishes. Currently in a New York musical, Miss Andrews is an example of what happens to a wallflower who stays at home and broadens her mind.

Father Appears Before Board In Son's Injury Case

Lee Dean appeared before the school board Wednesday night in connection with an injury to his son at Franklin school on October 26.

Mr. Dean told the board his son was on his way home after classes and was crossing the stadium near the south bleachers. In some manner his head came into contact with a support sticking out and he was badly gashed.

He informed the board the boy was not taken to the hospital until Mrs. Dean arrived. Superintendent Burton explained that many times in the past students had been hurt and when they had been removed to one of the hospitals, the parents insisted that they should be taken to the other.

The board instructed Dr. Burton that in the future when students were injured they were to be removed instantly to the emergency room of either of the hospitals. If parents decided to transfer them later it was their privilege but for the school authorities not to wait before having the injured student taken to a hospital.

The last great work of Richard Wagner, German composer, was "Parsifal," based on the legend of the Holy Grail although not on the legend of the Morte d'Arthur.

Optimist Club Installs Eight Tuesday Evening

New Members Installed At Dinner Meeting; Warren
Stewart Main
Speaker

New Castle Optimist club installed eight new members at a turkey dinner meeting at the Village Inn in Harlansburg Tuesday evening.

New members installed were Reese Flannery, 220 Pearson street; Sam Frank, 12 West Garfield avenue; R. James Callahan, 115 East Moody avenue; James J. Stevenson, 307 Boyles avenue; Richard D. McKee, 420 Boyles avenue; Paul H. Reed, 310 Fairmont avenue; Leonard W. Gilbert, 519½ Highland avenue; and Guy C. Shoaf, 215 East Laurel boulevard.

District Lieutenant Governor Gerald Evans of Sharon had charge of the installation ceremonies, with the sponsors presenting the Optimist pin to the new members.

Guests at the dinner besides Lt. Gov. Evans were Lt. Gov. D. G. Angeloni of Butler, District 1 secretary-treasurer Lee Preece, Sr., past international vice president William Stewart of Sharon, Bill Wingfield and J. Elder Bryan.

Stewart Chief Speaker

Warren Stewart was principal speaker for the evening. Cpl. Pete Colka of the local army and air force recruiting office showed World War II films. Films of the marble tournament and soap box derby, sponsored by the Optimists club, were also presented.

Thirty members and their guests were present at the installation dinner, which proved a great success. Bill Pascoe is membership chairman for the membership drive that is being continued until January 1.

District 1 meeting will be held at the Roosevelt hotel in Pittsburgh on November 26, it is announced by president Carl Anderson. The New Castle club is planning to attend the New Castle-McKeesport football game at Pitt stadium as part of the day's program.

Mr. Anderson also announced that the members of the local club will travel to Kittanning on November 22 for a charter party in that city.

Books Displayed At Public Library

Junior Department Observing Book
Week; Many Interesting Books
Have Arrived

In observance of Book Week, November 13-19, the Junior department of the Free Public Library is exhibiting new fall books. With the approach of the Christmas season, the library has prepared a list of gift book suggestions for all age groups.

For the picture book age, Poppet is a delightful story by the author of Gabriel Churchkitten, Margot Austin.

"The Box With Red Wheels," by Maud and Miska Petersham, with illustrations in bright colors, has the appeal that animal pictures always have for the very young. Two picture books about horses for the future cowboys and cowgirls are "A Horse to Ride" by Grace Paul, and "Little Appaloosa" by Berta and Elmer Hader. Both have fine illustrations in full color.

The Middle Buttons, or readers from third to fifth grade, will enjoy a new book about Mrs. Piggie Wiggle, "Magic," by Betty Mac Donald. "Herman, the Brave Pig," by Miriam Mason, and "Freddie Plays Football," by Walter Brooks, are funny stories about brave and heroic pigs. To delight the mystery fans in this age group there are two, "Mystery in the Pirate Oak," by Helen Orton, and "The Vanishing Octant Mystery," by Augusta Seaman.

Family stories are always popular with this group and one of the best of the newer ones is "The Davenport and Cherry Pie," by Alice Dalgliesh.

Teenagers will recognize many friends from previous books in their list. Little Miss Atlas tells of further adventures of Miss Tippy, by Janet Lambert, and "Carney's House Party," by Maud Lovelace, is more about Betsy and her friends.

"Sue Barton, Neighborhood Nurse," by Boylston, "Far Away Fields," by Patricia O'Malley, and "Sharon's Nursing Diary," by Dorothy Deming, are all sure to be popular with girls who like stories about nurses.

A new author of teen age fiction, Rosamund Jardin has written "Practically Seventeen," which is highly recommended.

Howard M. Brier has written "Blackboard Magic," a fast-moving story about basketball for boys. "Mounty in a Jeep," by T. Morris Longstreth, is a story of the Canadian Mounted Police of today. "Skyroad to Mystery," by Clayton Knight, is another story of the popular Gregory family that encircles the globe in its exciting plot. For lovers of animal books there are three outstanding books, "Vic, a Dog of the Prairies," by Thomas C. Hinkle, "River Ranch," by Doris Gates, and "Bobcat," by C. W. Anderson, and "Black Stallion and Satan," by Walter Farley.

These and many other new books for boys and girls may be examined in the Junior department of the Free Public Library all this week.

Filipinos To Get CARE Packages

MANILA—(INS)—Filipinos who have never recovered from World War II, will be given a shot in the arm by America's CARE relief agency, which is scheduled to begin operations in the Philippines early this month.

The plan announced by Paul Comly French, CARE executive director in New York, makes the island republic the sixth Far Eastern country to benefit from the American relief organization. Other nations include China, Japan, Korea, India and Pakistan.

Chief of the CARE mission in the Philippines, Robert D. Hammond, said the American people "have long felt a deep admiration and affection toward the Philippine people" and emphasized that "since the war, we have added gratitude to those feelings, too." Mr. Hammond pointed out that the opening of CARE in the Philippines will give Americans an opportunity to show that gratitude.

New Castle Youths Study Coal Mining In Butler Schools

Now they're teaching coal mining in the school system.

Not in the New Castle system but three New Castle young men are studying coal mining in the Butler school system and Butler wants tuition fees for them.

A letter was received from the Butler schools Wednesday night at the board meeting stating that three New Castle men had enrolled in the coal mining night classes and informed the New Castle board that when the tuition rate was established, the board would expect to be paid. This because there are no coal mining classes in the New Castle schools.

Vice President's Wedding Has Romantic Background

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Vice President Barkley and comely Mrs. Jane Hadley have chosen a wedding date which by happy coincidence is historic—vice presidentially speaking.

The "VEEP" will be the first vice president ever to assume the bonds of matrimony while in office but another vice presidential wedding took place on November 18, 1868.

On that autumn day 81 years ago, Schuyler Colfax, then vice president-elect, the running-mate of Ulysses S. Grant, was married to the renowned beauty, Ellen Wade.

The bride was a niece of Gen. Benjamin Wade, who oddly enough had himself been a vice presidential aspirant. Colfax and Grant did not take office until March 4, 1869.

Although Barkley is the first vice president to be married while in office, three presidents of the United States have turned briefly from the cares of state to heed the chimes of wedding bells. They were:

Young Bride for Tyler

President John Tyler, then a 55-year-old widower, who married Julia Gardner, 20, in New York City on June 26, 1884. Tyler's first wife, Letitia, died in the White House in 1842.

President Grover Cleveland, who married Miss Frances Folsom on June 2, 1886, in the first White House wedding of a chief executive. The bride was 22 and the president, previously unmarried, was 49.

President Woodrow Wilson, a widower of 58, who was married to Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, wealthy Washington widow, on December 18, 1915. The first Mrs. Wilson died in 1914. The Wilson-Galt wedding was solemnized in a Washington church.

As in the case of Barkley and the pretty Widow Hadley, romantic stories surrounded all of the presidential weddings.

Conversation Saves Life

Tyler's bride, Julia Gardner, was the daughter to a New York financier who was killed with a number of other prominent men when a gun exploded aboard the U. S. S. Princeton during a demonstration.

The president was below decks when the explosion occurred and legend has it that he escaped injury because he was reluctant to break off a conversation with the lovely Julia.

The Cleveland-Folsom romance captured the nation's imagination, and as the middle-aged president walked to the altar with his exquisite young bride, every bell in Washington pealed the glad tidings, and a salute was fired at the arsenal. The Marine band, resplendent in scarlet and blue, played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Wilson, struggling to keep America out of war and saddened by the death of his first wife, was said by his friends to have received a new lease on life when he fell in love with the vivacious Mrs. Galt.

The courtship was complicated by the presence of secret service agents but even so it is said that the president was both a gallant and an ardent suitor.

There are different types of cases calling for plastic surgery: wounds, including burns; cancerous tumors, and defects present at birth.

Paper Rolls Planned As A-Bomb Shield

CHICAGO, ILL.—This cut-away drawing of the Tribune Tower here shows the Chicago newspaper's plans to protect its employees and tenants in case of an atomic attack on the city. The plan calls for use of huge rolls of paper on which the newspaper is printed as flexible walls in the shelter areas. Consulting scientists say that the paper cylinders would provide an effective shield against flash and radiological emanations from an atomic bomb if the blast occurred a reasonable distance away.

V.F.W. Auxiliary To Have Evening Party

A committee meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the V. F. W., Neshannock Post 315, was held in the East Washington street club rooms, with Mrs. Orville Potter in charge.

Plans were completed for a party to be held in the club rooms on November 21. In charge of the entertainment will be Mrs. James Bell, Mrs. Jacob Emery and Mrs. Milton Wood. The refreshment committee consists of Mrs. Wallace McKee, and Mrs. Frank Sargeant.

Big Steel Year Despite Strike Says 'Iron Age'

Number Of Big Mills Booked Solidly Through June; On Quota Basis Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age says that with almost all of the nation's steel mills back in production this week on a tremendous backlog of orders, 1949 will see far more steel produced than the industry made in any previous year.

It predicted that output of raw steel this year will top 76 1/2 million tons, or 20 per cent more than the industry produced in 1929. The National Metalworking weekly reported that from the way their customers are ordering, steel sales executives feel reasonably certain that the strike did not last long enough to pinch off the business revival that appeared underway when the strike began on October 1.

It said that a number of big mills are booked solidly through next June on hot and cold-rolled sheets. Moreover, all major products are being allocated to customers on a quota basis as they were last year.

Iron Age reported that with only a few exceptions, coal stocks at the mills are now big enough to cause no concern to production men for the rest of the month. It said the problem will be possible diversion of steel company coal stocks to institutional and other power plants if the miners walk out again in December.

The weekly noted that the steel-making rate for the current week is scheduled at 61 1/2 per cent of rated capacity, up 36 1/2 points from the previous week.

It said that in the race to get back into full production. The industry is expected to hit a rate of close to 80 per cent next week. With operating men at most major mills aiming at 100 per cent operations before mid-December, Iron Age predicted that the rate for that month should top 90 per cent of capacity.

Beware Of Leaves Warns Auto Club

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—"Beware of wet leaves cluttering streets during the fall season," the Keystone Automobile club warned motorists today.

"Wet leaves are to an automobile what banana peels are to a pedestrian," says the club.

"They're as slippery as an eel and treacherous as a rattlesnake and the wise motorist accords them due respect because of their lethal possibilities," the automobile organization said.

Adding a final serious note, the club said, "The driver who thinks the annual warning about this danger is a joke may wake up—if he does—in a hospital."

During the 23 year interim of peace between the wars, a small group of surgeons established the principles of plastic surgery and made advances in techniques and methods.

Found: Dinner Menu By Girls At Senior High

Chefs the country over are racking their brains and pulling their hair for tempting recipes for Thanksgiving dinners and delicacies. Long hours are spent in kitchens experimenting with various menus, only with the cooks giving up in despair.

But right here in New Castle there are experienced cooks who have their Thanksgiving dinner planned and are looking forward to its preparations.

Junior girls of the home economics department of the New Castle senior high school, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Viola Sadler, have arranged a delicious menu for their own Thanksgiving dinner.

The meal, prepared by one group of the class, will consist of chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, cauliflower and cheese sauce, cranberries, steamed pudding, dainty yeast rolls, and a beverage. The young "cooks" will then serve the dinner to the remaining members of the class at an attractively appointed table in the traditional "family style."

Name Menu

Another variation of the Thanksgiving dinner could be hot vegetable bouillon, roast turkey, mashed potatoes with raisins, scalloped onions and green peppers, orange and cabbage slaw, fruit and coffee.

The girls suggest that "the way to a man's heart may be through his stomach, but the way to catch his eye is to bake a pie." Many pie recipes are shown on a bulletin board and if the finished product turns out as well as the pictures show then there can be no telling just how many men's "eyes will be caught."

Not only are the students preparing for the holiday dinner, but each week they outline a menu for a cooking class. For example, this week's dinner was composed of barbecued short ribs, baked corn and french fried potatoes. In this way, each girl is afforded the opportunity to plan a menu and serve a meal.

The home economics classes provide an ideal opportunity for the girls to learn all the "tricks" of the homemaker's trade.

PEN DICKS

Biologists and other scientists tell us that the appendix is a vestigial organ. They mean that it is only a remnant of what it was a long time ago.

Nowadays it's only use seems to be to cause trouble.

Dad gets a pain under his belt. It hurts pretty bad and makes him feel kind of sick at his stomach. When he presses on it, the pain is worse.

Maybe he takes something for it but it does not get any better.

He calls the doctor. He finds out that he has appendicitis and spends a few days in the hospital. It appendicitis is treated promptly and properly the results are good.

Sometimes it is pretty hard to tell at first whether the trouble is in the appendix or somewhere else.

Perhaps the safest rule is to take no medicine until the cause of the pain is found.

Gigantic Breaker For Grand Coulee

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—(INS)—A giant circuit breaker—capable of slamming the gate on two and a half million wild horses of electrical energy from Grand Coulee Dam—has just been completed at the East Pittsburgh Works of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

A. W. Hill, manager of Westinghouse circuit breaking engineering, said that the giant apparatus is rated at 10 million kilovolt-amperes interrupting capacity—three times the rated capacity of the largest breaker ever built by the company and equal to the largest ever made.

Such a rating is sufficient to safely interrupt, or switch off, the total output of nearly two million kilowatts to be produced by the dam's 18 Westinghouse water-wheel generators—equivalent to some 2,680,000 horsepower. Eleven of these generators now are installed with the others in process and on order.

A short circuit, Mr. Hill said, can momentarily increase a generator's output four to five times, so the breaker actually must be able to withstand a 10 million kilowatt surge of power.

BEAR HUNTING REPORTS
KANE, Pa., Nov. 17.—A heavy opening day kill of bear which may reach the 50 mark in this big game area, has now tapered sharply with but a few scattered reports over the area.

New Hospital At Tragic Fire Site

EFFINGHAM, Ill.—(INS)—A new St. Anthony's memorial hospital will be constructed in Effingham, starting May 1, 1950. The new 150-bed hospital will be adjacent to the site of the demolished medical center where 75 persons died in a tragic blaze last May 5.

Private contributions to finance the $3,000,000 hospital have passed the half-million dollar mark. Federal and state grants are expected to add about $1,450,000. The sisters of St. Francis also are adding the $300,000 insurance they received after the original building burned.

BUS STRIKE CONTINUES
WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 17.—(INS)—The Wilmington "Walkathon" struggled into its second day over the strike of Delaware Coach Company employees seeking a 15-cent hourly wage increase. The utility is offering five cents. More than 110,000 daily riders of the company's lines are traveling to work and business by makeshift means—either in car pools, trucks furnished by their employees, or by thumb or foot.

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 17.—(INS)—A certificate of suicide was issued today in the death of an 81-year-old Milroy, Pa., hunter who had been missing in the Seven Mountains area since last Thursday. The body of Caslow Yeager was found by a party of hunters yesterday. Yeager, who lived with his son Lewis, died from gunshot wounds in the chest, which Deputy Coroner Dr. Robert W. State Capitol Special Session Not To Be Called

Governor Duff Has Ruled
Out Any Special Session
Of Legislature

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Governor Duff has ruled out any special session of the General Assembly during the remaining months of his tenure in office to consider a method of financing the half-billion dollar veterans' bonus. He said he'll not even recommend any specific tax because he doesn't wish to usurp the prerogatives of the next governor. "I know as a matter of politics I'm going to be bailed on this but I'm not going to do it," he said. The governor, whose term expires in January, 1951, constitutionally cannot succeed himself in office. Duff knew whereof he spoke because shortly after he aired his position he was assailed by Democratic State Chairman Philip Matthews. The Republicans, said Matthews, have been "shopping around" for an excuse to impose a sales tax and apparently have decided to use the bonus. Matthews apparently overlooked the fact that during the 1949 session of the Assembly, Democrats joined with Republicans in soft-peddling bonus tax talk and did not challenge the consensus of lawmakers that some new levy would be needed to underwrite the huge debt.

The General State Authority has allocated about $600,000 to modernize facilities for feeding thousands of patients in Pennsylvania's 17 mental hospitals. This amounts to the $4,000,000 set aside for similar work under the mental hospital improvement program inaugurated by the legislature in 1947. The State Welfare department, which supervises the hospitals, has estimated that a population equal to that of York, Bethlehem or Chester is being fed three times a day in state institutions.

Pennsylvania's relief rolls have skyrocketed approximately 198,000 persons since January 1, 1949. At that time, the state's relief officials listed about 221,000 persons on the rolls while the latest figures place the overall burden at more than 419,000. The prolonged strikes in the steel and coal industries have pushed the rolls up since the end of summer but that particular increase has been reflected in general assistance which is aid to jobless workers without resources. The bulk of the increase which will remain after production absorbs jobless relievers will be found on the old age assistance and aid to dependent children rolls. There was some talk at the beginning of Governor Duff's administration about trimming the rolls but so far relief officials have not been able to accomplish much along that line. The commonwealth will spend about $160,000,000 for relief during the current biennium ending May 31, 1951, with the federal government tossing in another sum of about $50,000,000.

The Pennsylvania Nurses' association plans to renew its fight for legislation which would require licenses for all who nurse for pay. Its legislative committee also proposes to promote adequate coverage under the State Workmen's Compensation act for any disease or accident incurred by nurses in the line of duty. Nurses' lobbyists fought hard during the 1949 session to persuade lawmakers but they were the victims of some legislative shenanigans. Certain elements outside of the legislature were opposed to the program proposed by nurses and they found themselves on a sidetrack at the end of the session.

Speakers Heard At Hospital Meeting

Joint Annual Meeting Held Tuesday By New Castle Hospital Board And Staff Members

New Castle Hospital board of directors and medical staff jointly held their annual business meeting and dinner program, with several guests also in attendance, Tuesday evening.

Important business preceded the dinner served in the nurses home. Principal speakers of the evening were, Judge W. Walter Braham, and Rev. Mother Corinne, Superior General of the Sisters of St. Francis, of Mt. Alvernia, at Millville, Pa.

Greetings were extended to the group by Ivor Davis, of the Board of Directors, and Dr. Paris Shoaff, a member of the executive committee of the medical staff.

Rev. Fr. Francis McCarter, Board member gave the invocation prior to the dinner and also the benediction.

Officers of the Women's Auxiliary assisted the Sisters of St. Francis in serving the delicious turkey dinner. Lovely fall flowers were used as decorations and as the table centerpiece.

Layers of deep blue ice are scattered through icebergs.

Local Insurance Underwriter Talks To Shenango Class

William R. Clement, local insurance underwriter spoke to the Shenango high school recently.

Mr. Clement stressed the fact that each of us is a salesman at tempting to sell ourselves and our ideas every day. He presented methods used in selling so abstract a commodity as insurance.

After the lecture Mr. Clement answered many pertinent questions asked by the students. Mr. Clement is one of a group of local businessmen who bring their realistic experiences into the classroom to make learning more meaningful to the students.

Young Duke Stays Out Of Spotlight

LONDON.—(INS)—The least publicized member of Britain's Royal Family, the Duke of Kent, was 14 years old on Oct. 9. His beautiful widowed mother, brought him up to be a "regular fellow" and despite his royal rank (seventh in line to the throne) Prince Edward George Nicholas

Patrick has been accorded no privileges.

He never attends official functions and is deliberately shielded from the limelight focused on the Royal Family.

There are no such things as chauffeur-driven limousines for the boy. The Duke bicycled to his "prep" school, Ludgrove, near Wokingham, Berkshire and his headmaster reported that he was "kicked around as much as any other boy."

Last year he entered Eton and like every junior boy he must "fag" for a senior—tidy his senior's room and run errands for him. The Duke takes the "hazing" with a smile.

Postpone Meeting Of Fire Police

Regular scheduled meeting of the New Castle Volunteer Fire Police which was to have been held Thursday, November 17 when an oyster supper was to be held has been postponed because of conflicting engagements.

Delegates Hawk, Stewart, and Leslie will attend the quarterly meeting of the Northwestern Firemen's association at Saegertown, Thursday.

Plans for the next meeting of the fire police will be announced later, according to President James Campbell and Secretary-Treasurer Paul L. Gilbert.

Many persons are now enjoying new life and happiness with reconstructed noses, chins and ears.

English Poet To Give Lecture At Westminster

On Monday night, November 21, at 8:15 Stephen Spender, the well-known English poet, critic and Goethe scholar, will present a lecture on modern poetry in the chapel at Westminster college. The lecture is free to the public.

Mr. Spender came to this country to deliver a Goethe memorial address at Harvard and is making only three lecture appearances in the United States before he returns to England.

Pope Pius Plans Holy Consistory

ROME, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Top Vatican officials confirmed Wednesday that Pope Pius is "expected" to hold a consistory before the opening of the holy year on December 24, but none ventured to name an exact date or state definitely that he will create new cardinals.

Persistent reports say that the consistory will be held on December 12. But these seemed erroneous in face of the fact that no announcement has been made and precedent calls for a month to elapse between such announcement and the holding of a consistory.

Vatican prelates are divided on whether or not Pope Pius will hand out red hats.

Richard D. Copson Is On Maneuvers

Richard D. Copson, A. G. 3, has been on maneuvers in the Atlantic area since October 5, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Copson, of 134 East Leasure avenue.

A. G. Copson, a member of the crew of the ship U. S. S. Sicily, spent three days in New York City during the Armistice Day observance. After more maneuvers on the ocean, the ship's crew expects to dock at Norfolk, Va., their home base for the holiday season.

Potato Price Support Drops

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Brannan Wednesday ordered producers of Irish potatoes to cut back their acreage by seven per cent and announced that their price supports will be slashed about 11 per cent for 1950.

Brannan established a 1950 commercial acreage allotment of 1,137,800 acres which he hopes will produce about 335 million bushels of tubers.

This compares with a 1949 crop of 387 million bushels grown on 1,223,100 acres. Brannan will deny price support to farmers who plant more than their individual acreage allotments.

The cabinet official said that price supports will be continued at 60 per cent of parity next year, but because of new pricing formula will average lower than this year. The 1950 acreage allotments on Irish potatoes by states include: Pennsylvania, 56,000; West Virginia, 700; Ohio, 19,600; New Jersey, 34,000; Delaware, 400; and Maryland, 4,200.

Tito Vs. Kremlin
Struggle Danger

Believed At Present Time
To Be World No. 1 Danger Spot

OTHER NEWS OF
NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Special To Central Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Officials studying the world outlook view the Tito-Kremlin fight the most dangerous matter in the whole picture. It is generally agreed that Moscow cannot let Tito get away with his defiance. It sets a bad precedent, from Russia's point of view.

The methods to be pursued in driving Tito from power are the main problem—and the Kremlin has a bag of tricks to meet this situation.

However, unfortunately for the Russians, Tito was trained in Moscow and knows most of these tricks. The question then arises in Moscow about whether to take direct military action against Tito.

While a rational approach would discourage such a move, experts are by no means convinced that an angry Politburo would act rationally.

However, the end of the winter or early spring is regarded as the time when Moscow is most likely to face the decision whether to use the Red Army.

Then the western powers will be faced with the decision of whether they want to participate actively in the struggle, with all the implications, which are topped by the unleashing of atomic war.

VOICE-GETTING STRATEGY

Democrats are planning to make big political capital of the lobbying investigation to be conducted by the special House committee headed by Rep. Frank Buchanan (D., Pennsylvania).

They figure the hearings, which will be held early in 1950, will provide fine fodder for the election year attacks on the "vested interests" who seek to sway Congress.

However, the Republicans plan to fight back every inch of the way. They have put their two biggest guns in the House—Reps. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, on the committee.

BACON-BREAD BATTLE

Washington officials have made the surprise disclosure that former President Herbert Hoover opposed the bread-saving campaigns the administration waged in connection with World War II and feeding programs in Europe.

Hoover is said to have sided with Senator Clinton P. Anderson (D., New Mexico, former agriculture secretary, who contends that the way to save is to eat bread.

Anderson explained that wartime bread saving came mostly from curtailed breakfast toast. But on cutting down on the toast, he continued, most Americans ate more eggs and bacon.

The senator declared that the experts have figured the amount of wheat—or other grain—that goes into two eggs and two strips of bacon is the equivalent of the wheat that should go into 40 slices of toast.

NO WEDDING IN SITE

The word passed around in top official circles is that Margaret Truman definitely has no wedding plans in mind. The president's daughter is reported interested only in her singing career and as having no romantic interests whatever.

One Cabinet officer, in fact, recently offered to wager $25 to $1 that Miss Truman would not get married in the next year.

CABINET ATTENTION

Attorney General Howard McGrath, who has reason to be one of the busier members of the Cabinet, took time out the other day to pay a special visit to Capitol Hill.

He did not call on a senator—there were only two or three in Washington at the time—but visited with the employees in the office of Senate Secretary Leslie Biddle. Biddle was out of the city, recuperating from an extended illness. However, the several women secretaries who handle Biddle's office routine and almost daily saw McGrath when McGrath was a senator were on duty.

McGrath told the girls with a grin: "I just came up to say hello."

Elephantiasis, in which there is extreme swelling in the legs or other parts of the body, is sometimes corrected by plastic surgery.

Sheep have two skins, separated by a layer of fat. The lower skin produces hair and the upper skin, wool.

Austria is so mountainous that some of its regions are almost completely blocked off from each other.

If you want to keep the skin of baked potatoes soft just rub them with salad oil or some other suitable fat before baking.

Navy Ties Up Chicago Traffic

CHICAGO, ILL.—Auto and public transit traffic was held up for an hour as a fleet of 14 small naval vessels moved up the Chicago river. The bridges make an interesting pattern as they rise to allow the boats to pass. Movement was made Sunday morning during a slack traffic period.

Scene Of Vice-President's Wedding

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Down this center aisle Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley will walk Friday to the music of the wedding march. The little chapel in St. John's Methodist church was a scene of activity as workmen conditioned the organ for the wedding music. At right may be seen a painter's ladder. The chapel was also getting a "re-touch" job.

The babies, two boys and a girl, averaged five pounds each.

The Berkstressers who live near Tyrone, have three other children.

Westminster And Slippery Rock Teams To Play Benefit Game For Optimists

Westminster College and Slippery Rock State Teachers' College teams will play basketball in the George Washington gymnasium December 12. At the Wednesday night meeting of the school board the request of the Optimist Club for use of the floor for a benefit game was approved.

Authority was given to re-seed the stadium field, and also to purchase sufficient humus to build up the gridiron and to aerate the turf before the seed was planted. This will be done this fall.

The city will be asked to establish a sidewalk grade in Division street from the north entrance to the stadium to Cunningham avenue. A sidewalk will be put down to remove a muddy condition there.

ALLOT CANCER FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The Public Health Service granted more than two million dollars in cancer research funds today to 14 hospitals, universities and other institutions throughout the country.

The new awards—approved by Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele—primarily are for the construction of cancer research facilities, include a $200,000 grant to the University of Pittsburgh.

Throws In Hat

—Acme Telephoto

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—James Roosevelt, Democratic national committeeman and son of the late president, tells reporters that he will seek the governorship of California next year, being the first candidate to throw his hat into the ring officially. Gov. Earl Warren is expected to seek re-election and two other possible candidates have been mentioned. They are George Luckey, Democratic state vice-chairman, and Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

State Republican
Women Assemble

Emphasis Is Placed On Need Of "New Blood And Enthusiasm" In Party

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women today put the emphasis on youth for "new blood and new enthusiasm" in the state Republican organization.

More than 1,000 delegates to the 27th annual convention at Harrisburg unanimously adopted a series of resolutions which urged more active support of GOP youth groups.

In putting emphasis on youth, the delegates said "new faces are needed in the party, new blood and new enthusiasm."

Delegates called for a reorganization of the state public assistance program to put the emphasis on greater local responsibility, and urged the extension of voluntary health insurance systems in preference "to governmental control of individualized health services."

The state GOP's distaff side also asked they be given a greater voice in Republican policy-making circles as well as "co-equal positions with men in both elective and appointive jobs."

They assailed the "appalling gap" between the work done by women and the political recognition they receive.

The council pledged itself to fight to preserve "free enterprise" but declared the party is confronted with "statism."

Out of the approximate seven million men who apply for hunting licenses, at least 10,000 of them would be unable to recognize a bright red cap or jacket if they saw it.

Second Respite Given Slayer

Convicted Philadelphia
Slayer Wins Another
Delay in Execution

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17. — (INS)—James Smith, 23, convicted Philadelphia slayer, today won a second respite from death in the electric chair for the killing of John J. Haines, 29, a cab driver, on January 15, 1948.

Smith was first rescued by a federal court writ of habeas corpus only 36 hours before he was to have been electrocuted last September 26. The writ was vacated by the federal court last Wednesday.

Today's reprieve came in the form of a "certificate of probable cause" and an order "staying" commonwealth authorities from taking any steps to carry out the death penalty.

The certificate was obtained by Smith's court-appointed attorney, Herbert S. Levin, upon order of Federal Judges George A. Welsh and J. Cullen Ganey.

Judge Ganey was among four federal judges who dismissed the writ of habeas corpus staying Smith's electrocution last Wednesday.

The jurist agreed in the latest decision, however, that higher federal courts might differ from the district court on "important questions" involved in the case.

Levin said that if the federal court of appeals rejects Smith's plea, he will carry the case to the U. S. supreme court.

Joan Crawford Most Publicized Woman

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. — (INS)—Joan Crawford is the most clipped woman in the world—in a publicity sense, that is.

At least, so says the Burrelle Press Clipping Service, which adds that Miss Crawford, on the basis of a study of press clippings, has had more words written about her than any woman in history.

On the historical side, the agency reports, actress Crawford beats out Cleopatra in the written-about category. Among her contemporaries, it is claimed, she is ahead of such other press clipping champs as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Shirley Temple.

Charley Conerly Leads NL In Pass Completions

By JOHN McCAFFERTY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17. — Chuckin' Charley Conerly, the National Football league's 1948 "rookie of the year" has shed the sophomore jitters like a duck sheds water.

In fact, the sensational New York Giants backfield star—who virtually rewrote the record books last season—is now the NFL's No. 1 passer.

Conerly forged to the top rung of the statistical ladders for the second time this season.

Leads By Six Points

Five weeks ago, the Giants' sharpshooter occupied the leading spot but then relinquished it to Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack of the Chicago Bears and Bobby Layne of the New York Bulldogs.

The former Mississippi triple-threat now leads Layne, last week's leader, by six points.

Statistics released by NFL commissioner Bert Bell's office show that Conerly has amassed 1503 yards through the air—only 257 yards short of a mile.

By completing 15 passes for 347 yards and four touchdowns against the Green Bay Packers Sunday, the Giants' young field general jumped from third place to first.

25 Years Old

The 25-year-old Conerly now has completed 99 of 188 tosses for a 52.7 completion average.

Speardhead of the Giants' new T-formation, Conerly has rifled for 14 touchdowns to lead the league. Also, the agile athlete's 85-yard heave against the Bears last month has yet to be matched.

But Conerly's aerial exploits are nothing new to the football world. In 1947, the lean Mississippi quarterback smashed all collegiate passing marks. Conerly also was acclaimed for his spectacular running and punting.

Broke Eight Records

Then last year, as a "rookie" with the Giants, Charley broke eight of his team's records with his precision passing.

He finished third among the nation's passers in '48.

However, today it's the Philadelphia Eagles' Tommy Thompson, last year's champion, who is trying gamely to catch young Conerly.

By leading the Birds to a 44-21 triumph over the Washington Redskins Sunday, Thompson moved from sixth place to third behind Conerly and Layne.

Behind Thompson is Baugh, who slid from second to fourth.

In the ground gaining department, veteran Tony Canadeo of Green Bay continued to pace NFL ball toters for the fifth consecutive week.

Scoring Leaders

Canadeo, shooting for his first rushing title in an eight-year pro career, has plowed for 715 yards.

The Eagles' Steve Van Buren, 1948 winner and all-time ground gainer held second spot, 97 yards behind Canadeo.

Oddly enough the Chicago Cardinals Elmer Angsman, though reposed in third place, boasts the best average gain with 6.2 yards per try.

Other NFL leaders:

Scoring—Gene Roberts of the Giants (84 points).

Punting—Los Angeles Rams Bob Waterfield (45.6).

Pass interceptions—Don Doll of Detroit (10).

Hospital Brings Dreams To Life

MEERKE, Colo., (INS) — The town of Meeker, as it watches its new $175,000 hospital under construction, recalls the 30-year-old dream that was the beginning of the modernistic building.

A man named Freedman Fairfield lived in Meeker when he was a boy. The residents remember him as a "rough and ready kid."

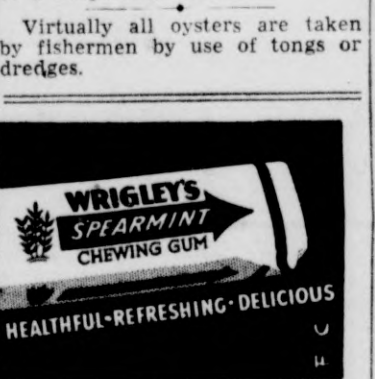

Today, Fairfield is a wealthy financier an oil investor, and holds vast properties at California's Signal Hill.

He has supplied $100,000 toward construction of the hospital and is seeing his long-time dream being realized.

More than 30 years ago, his mother, a pioneer woman, died of an illness that might have been cured had adequate medical care been available.

The realization that his mother's illness might have been cured and her death prevented, gave him the idea of helping others stricken by sickness, and he began to dream of a hospital at Meeker.

Virtually all oysters are taken by fishermen by use of tongs or dredges.

Weather Study To Aid Farmers

COLUMBIA, Mo. — (INS) — Missouri university has undertaken a project to enable farmers to adjust their farming operations more suitably to the weather of the area where they reside.

The College of Agriculture is compiling historical data on Missouri weather based on daily state-wide reports during the past 55 years.

This information will be broken down into numerous summarized reports for various regions.

Dean John H. Longwell of the college of agriculture said the data should give farmers a much clearer picture of what may be expected of the weather.

The findings will be correlated with available agricultural data on droughts, planting time and growing seasons to increase their value.

Small Babies May Stay Underweight

LONDON. — (INS) — Expectant mothers who seek an easy birth by dieting to reduce baby's weight are warned that they may cause their son or daughter to be below average in height and weight.

Experiments by British doctors show that small babies do not catch up on lost weight during childhood and may even stay well below the big baby in weight and height.

To discover whether this difference remains between teen age and adult life, British doctors are now analyzing the "body-build" of children used in the earlier experiments.

Statistics of the experiments show a difference of 11.2 pounds at the age of seven years between the mean weight of children who weighed 9 pounds 9 ounces or more at birth and that of children who weighed 5 pounds 8 ounces or less for girls.

There was a corresponding difference of 11 pounds at the age of nine years and 12.8 pounds at the age of 11 years.

Titan Gridders Prepare To Meet Undefeated St. Vincents Eleven

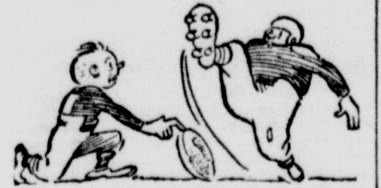

Westminster's football Titans ran through their next to the last practice drill of the year here Wednesday afternoon, amid "football talk" that bristled with ifs and buts concerning their final grid appearance of the year.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 the Titans will attempt to do what eight other clubs have failed miserably to do—defeat the power-packed Bearcats of St. Vincent college. The two eleven's tangle at Bearcat stadium, Latrobe, in what will be the last regular season game for each team.

Saints Highly Rated
Al DeLucas' Vincents will take the field Saturday rated one of the nation's best "small college" eleven's with eight straight triumphs this fall. The 30-0 Bearcat win over Mt. St. Mary's last Saturday gave the DeLucamen a 193-point total against a total of six points registered by "Cat" opponents this season. National collegiate ratings rank the Bearcats as one of the first 20 small college eleven's on defense.

The St. Vincent eleven has won over Indiana State, Steubenville, Alliance, Geneva, Waynesburg, St. Francis, West Virginia Wesleyan and Mt. St. Mary's in that order during the campaign. National college ratings rank the Bearcats as one of the first 20 small college eleven's on defense.

The Titan hopefuls point to their own defensive line when the St. Vincent defense is spoken of. The Westminster line is recognized here as the big threat of the blue and white Titans and, with ten Westminster seniors playing their last game Saturday, might well be expected to come up with its best performance of the season against the Bearcats. Ralph "Buck" Stevens and Vito Taylor will be at the defensive guard posts, Brady Mitchell and Harry Sample will be in the tackle slots and Ed Cary, and either Fritz Evanoff or Pete Pietrantonio will open at the defensive terminal posts. Freshman George Watto will back up one side of the line with either Evanoff or Harry Heilman behind the other side. Vain Verone and Chuck Nicholas will be at halfback positions and Mac Ward will handle the safety man chores.

Same Backfield
Titan coach Melvin Hetzler indicated today that he will send the same backfield combination against the Bearcats that gave strong Grove City a battle last Saturday before the Grovers could come up with 19 points in the final period to overcome a Titan lead and win, 33-20. Gay Lutz will be at quarterback, flanked by halfbacks Kim Campbell and Dick Sylvester; Dick Wharton, the leading Titan scorer, will be at fullback.

Should Wharton and Campbell back up the more consistent running of Sylvester, and should Lutz have a good afternoon passing, the highly-touted Bearcats might be in for a busy afternoon. Titan followers insist that their record of two wins, four losses and two ties does not do the Titan footballers justice. They point to Saturday's thriller at Grove City and steady improvement shown by the Titans throughout the season, as proof of their arguments.

Baseball Rule Changes Okayed

12-Man Major And Minor League Committee Approves Of Few Changes

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 17.—(INS)—A 12-man committee of minor and major league chieftains in Cincinnati today has approved 17 pages of a 66-page draft of revisions of baseball regulations.

George M. Trautman, president of the minors and chairman of the committee, said the group would take a break today to attend the major league draft meeting.

Trautman said he hoped the committee would have the new rule book ready for spring training season.

The preliminary sessions yesterday opened with rule No. 1—"The object of each team is to win by scoring the more runs."

Define Strike Zone

Following in rapid order was the rule on the strike zone which was defined as the space over the plate between the batter's knees and his armpits. It replaces the "shoulders and knees" definition. Commissioner A. B. Chandler's edict of "no gambling" called for a slight change in a rule under which the home team of a game played on a neutral diamond shall be determined by lot. Chandler asked that the word "lot" be deleted and, in the event of a disagreement, he or Trautman will decide.

Other regulations adopted ruled out bats which were metal-loaded, plastic or laminated clubs. Only solid wood is acceptable.

Penn State has fared better against the University of Pittsburgh in the last ten years than at any prior time in the history of this series. The Lions and Panthers, football rivals since 1893, have broken even in their last 10 games.

The Justice department announced today that it has dropped an anti-trust investigation into organized baseball's disposal of radio and television rights.

Ratterman Signs With Bulldogs

—Acme Telephoto
GEORGE RATTERMAN

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(INS)—The cat was officially out of the bag today and George did it.

George in this case is George Ratterman, quarterback for the Buffalo Bills of the All-America Football Conference. And the cat was a report that George had signed a three year contract to play for the New York Bulldogs of the National Football League beginning next season.

Admits Signing
Ratterman said yes, last night, he had signed a pact with Bulldog owner Ted Collins last summer when he was having contract difficulties with the Bills.

"I figured the war between the two leagues would end this winter so I signed with Collins in order to assure myself of a future shot in the game," he said.

Earlier, Buffalo owner James Brunnell had branded the report as a National League attempt to ruin the Bills' bid for an AAC playoff berth by undermining Ratterman.

Jack Storer, of Wilkesburg, Lloyd Amprim, of Monessen, and Len Shephard, of Narberth, are numbered among the Penn State gridders who are expected to turn to basketball a week hence. The first two are hold-overs, Shephard is a newcomer.

Southworth said his health has improved considerably and added that he is looking forward to the coming winter baseball meetings to plan for next season.

Grovers Seeking Revenge Saturday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 17.—The hard-fought 33 to 20 decision over Westminster on Saturday proved costly to the Grovers. Dick Hummel, senior halfback from Grove City, injured his knee when he was hit after intercepting a pass. Hummel is an ace defensive halfback and a good runner when on offense. It is doubtful if he will be in playing togs on Saturday against Carnegie Tech.

The Grovers were forced to come from behind twice in the Westminster game. End Ned Hamilton, Grove City, and quarterback Hal Foster, Jamestown, N. Y., were instrumental in the victory. Foster threw one touchdown pass to Hamilton and set up two more with his accurate tosses.

When the Wolverines take the field Saturday they will be out to avenge that loss to Tech last year. It was Grove City that Tech defeated for the first time since 1942.

Ohio State Needs Victory Saturday

Buckeyes Can Get Rose Bowl Bid For Win Over Michigan, Wolverines

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(INS)—In the solution of this old brain tickler—a can a good offense beat a good defense—lies the answer as to who will win the Big Ten football championship and who will represent the Western conference in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2.

Ohio State, the top ranking offensive team in the conference, will face the supreme test Saturday against a rejuvenated Michigan aggregation that hold the Big Ten's best defensive record. The winner will be the conference champion.

A victory for Ohio State means not only the title but the trip to Pasadena, Cal. A triumph for Michigan would make the Wolverines the first team in history to win the conference championship three straight times.

The Ann Arbor—is a one touchdown favorite to defeat the high-scoring Buckeyes. Michigan cannot go to the Rose Bowl, however, because of conference rules limiting a team to one such trip in three years.

Therefore, a Michigan victory would give the California trip to the winner of Saturday's Minnesota-Wisconsin clash in Minneapolis.

Leon Hart Seems Destined For 1949 Heisman Trophy

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—For the first time since 1936 and the second time in history a backfield man seems unlikely to win the Heisman Memorial trophy, equivalent to collegiate football's player of the year accolade.

Balloting for the 1949 award began yesterday among 908 participating sports experts, and a gargantuan Notre Dame end, Leon Hart, seems a virtual shoo-in for the honor.

Hart Standout
Hart—a six foot four-inch senior who weighs in the neighborhood of 265 pounds—would be a stand-out playing for Podunk Junior college.

Playing for a team that hasn't lost a game since 1946, Hart has yet another point in his favor. The sages seemingly go for members of winning teams almost as solidly as they do for ball carriers and star passers.

The only Heisman selectee who didn't have a successful eleven behind him was Jay Berwanger, winner of the first award in 1935 although playing with a pushover Chicago University team.

If Hart is selected, he'll be the first end to be honored since Yales colorful Larry Kelley in 1936.

Rangers Defeat Boston Bruins

Bud Poile, a flashy wingman of much repute, finally is beginning to earn his keep with the New York Rangers.

Poile, a 20-goal man for the past four National Hockey league seasons, was acquired by the Rangers last summer from the Detroit Red Wings.

Thus far in the campaign, Poile appeared to have lost his old spark.

But last night he caught on, got his first goal of the season and the Blueshirts beat the Boston Bruins, 2 to 1 for their first win since October 26.

Canadiens Beaten
The victory raised the Broadway Blues into a fourth place tie with the Chicago Black Hawks and kept the hapless Bruins in the NHL cellar.

St. Smith's goal during a rough and tumble first period gave the Toronto Maple Leafs a 1 to 0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

A crowd of 14,406 fans, largest of the year at Toronto, saw the Leafs take over second place from the Canadiens.

Meanwhile, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings kept up their pace by drubbing the Black Hawks, 4 to 1.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

NICK CASILLO, local high school tutor, who is one of the best versed men in game and fish problems, has an excellent story about birds in the December issue of the Pennsylvania Angler. . . . Although one would imagine because of his past fistic performers that Dan Sweeney deals only with fisticuffs, the fact remains he is a keen baseball student, and in commenting on past pitchers who twirled on local diamonds, he stated that Fred Cool, now employed at Alliquippa, was one of the best pitchers this district had years ago. Cool hurried for the Italian Athletic Association. . . . Don and Chick Kroesen, Shenango High gridders are two of the best football players in this district. It is regretted they do not have more weight and height. . . . James Young, Princeton, is hunting for a three-year-old Red bone dog which was lost while hunting near the former game farm. The dog carries the tag of "A. D. Noggle, Princeton, R. D. 6". . . . Judging from talk, the city will be almost deserted when Ne-Ca-Hi plays McKeesport, at Pitt Stadium. . . . Grantland Rice has again accepted the chairmanship of the National Sports council for the annual March of Dimes, January 16-31. It is a campaign everyone should aid. . . . Ernie Hill, former boxer, now a local vocational school tutor, has a good-looking dog, Boxer type.

Lakers Ascend To First Place

(By International News Service)

The Minneapolis Lakers are in undisputed possession of first place in the Central division of the National Basketball Association today, and Sheboygan has moved into a first place tie with the Anderson Duffy Packers in Western division.

The Chicago Stags dumped the Fort Wayne Pistons into second place by beating them 85-72 and the Lakers fractured the tie for sectional leadership by drubbing the St. Louis Bombers 94-71.

The Sheboygan Redskins handed the Waterloo Hawks their fifth setback in seven games by a 76-73 count to move into the tie with Anderson.

In the Eastern division, the Philadelphia Warriors shoved the Boston Celtics deeper into the cellar by handing them their 9th setback against on win by the score of 93-80.

The Washington Capitols handed the winless Denver Nuggets their 9th loss by a 99-90 score. Tonight the Indianapolis Olympians, led by former University of Kentucky stars, play Boston. In return games, Minneapolis plays St. Louis and Waterloo encounters Sheboygan.

Eight Thousand In District Receive Security Benefits

Nearly $2,000,000 Yearly Paid To Residents Of Three County District

Approximately two million dollars a year in the form of monthly old-age and survivors insurance benefits are going to close to eight thousand persons in this area.

This was the highlight of the status report issued today by Myron Milbourn, manager of the New Castle social security office which services Mercer, Butler and Lawrence counties.

The report makes a comparison of the local figures with those for the United States as a whole and for Pennsylvania. For instance, 2½ million men, women and children in the nation are receiving social security benefits at the rate of 1¼ million dollars a day. In the state of Pennsylvania 240,000—or about one out of every ten in the nation—are benefitting at the rate of $170,000 a day.

Different Types

Benefit payments in the three-county area by type of beneficiary are approximately as follows, including the number and monthly benefit amount:

Retired workers 65 or over, 3500—$96,000.

Wives, 65 or over, of retired workers, 1400—$19,000.

Children of deceased or retired workers, 1500—$21,500.

Widows of deceased workers, regardless of age, who have in their care one or more unmarried children under 18, 450—$10,000.

Widows, 65 or over, of deceased workers, 650—$13,500.

Parents, age 65 or over, who were dependent upon the deceased worker, 30—$500.

Many Still Lost

Despite the extent of the old-age and survivors insurance benefits being paid in Lawrence, Mercer and Butler counties, many benefits are still being lost because of failure to file a claim, Mr. Milbourn stated.

Although these benefits are a matter of earned right based upon social security taxes paid during the working lifetime of the retired employee or the dead husband or father, many people are not aware that they are payable only if a formal claim is filed with the social security office.

Mr. Milbourn emphasized two rules for preventing benefit losses: (1) Workers reaching 65 should come, or write, to the local social security office, 500 Frew building, New Castle, Pa., as soon as they stop work; (2) when a worker dies, some member of the family should immediately get in touch with that office.

Gold Star Mother Searches For GI Who Knew Her Son

Invited To Attend Reunion As Representative Of All Gold Star Mothers

CARLISLE, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Like any Gold Star Mother, Mrs. H. G. Howe, of Carlisle, constantly sought out any ex-GI who might have known her son.

But since 1944 when she received the War department telegram telling that her son, Lt. Theodore E. Howe, was killed in action with the Eighth Infantry division in Normandy, Mrs. Howe's search was fruitless.

Recently, while reading a New York newspaper, Mrs. Howe noticed the division was holding its reunion there from November 17-19.

In a letter to Eighth Division association officials, Mrs. Howe wondered if she might sit in on a few sessions.

The response was overwhelming. In the reply, division officers not only invited her to attend but asked if she would sit at the speakers' table as an official representative of all Gold Star Mothers of the division.

In addition Mrs. Howe will place the wreath on a monument to the dead of both world wars during commemoration ceremonies.

Mrs. Howe is sure her search for one of her son's friends will end in New York this week.

If the person's resistance is weakened, these germs have a greater opportunity for gaining a foothold.

Competition At Mercer Saturday

Eight Teams Of Vocational Agriculture Students In Area To Compete

At Mercer High school on Saturday, November 19, eight teams of vocational agriculture students will compete in a demonstration contest on farm electrification. The teams represent chapters of the Future Farmers of America in their respective schools, and the contest is conducted under the supervision of the Vocational Agriculture Departments of the schools in this area.

Pennsylvania Power Company,

West Penn Power Company, and Duquesne Light Company are co-operating in the sponsorship of the contest. This year is the second year for the competition. It was held last year at Union Township High school near New Castle and was won by the Zelenople team under the direction of V. D. Mack. Teams competing this year are from the following schools: East Brook, Mars, Fredonia, Zelenople, West Sunbury, Sandy Lake and Mt. Jackson—Mt. Jackson school having two teams in competition.

Begins at 9:30

The contest will begin at 9:30 a.m. and according to the schedule will be concluded about 3:30 p.m. J. C. Fink, advisor of Vocational Agriculture from New Castle, is chairman of the program; and the judges of the competition are C. B. Morrison, advisor of Vocational Education in Agriculture, Washington, Pa.; B. Parker Hess, of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Pittsburgh; and Glen Patterson, master of the Lawrence County Pomona Grange.

The public generally is invited to attend and witness the demonstration projects. Subjects of the demonstrations are varied and cover many different aspects of electricity on the farm.

A similar contest is conducted each year at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show and the winner of second prize in last year's contest here, the Sandy Lake High school, was awarded first prize in the farm electrification contest at the State Farm show in January.

President Gets Choice Of Turkeys For Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—President Truman gets his usual gift of free Thanksgiving turkeys today, and he can take his choice between one weighing four pounds and one weighing 10 times as much.

The turkeys are the gift of the Poultry and Egg National board and the National Turkey federation, and both were raised in Massachusetts, home of the first Thanksgiving.

One bird is a 40-pound bronze turkey, while the other is a four-pound fryer, a variety developed by the Department of Agriculture.

Acheson Praises New German Regime

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson Wednesday warmly praised the energy and effectiveness of the west German government's efforts toward reconstruction.

He reported that during his recent visit to Berlin, Bonn and Heidelberg he was struck with the vigor and seriousness with which these officials have taken over the control allotted to them.

The Paris meeting with British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman, he said, created a full understanding of the views of the three governments.
